ZWICK NOT INJURED SERIOUSLY DOCTOR REVEALS TO POLICE

Newport Physician At-

ter Shooting

CINCINNATI, O., June 13.—Robert Zwick, Cincinnati and Hamilton gangster who has earned the seriously wounded the morning police "sobriquet of 'Fox,'" was not Turkey Joe Jacobs was killed by machine gun fire, police revealed today.

Zwick, who was with Turkey Joe when a curtailed automobile forced their coupe to the side of the road and riddled it with machine gun bullets, went to Newport, Ky., where City Physician J. M. Digby dressed his wounds, police declared.

Dr. Digby reported to police the following day, describing Zwick's wounds as superficial. It was generally believed the gangster was critically wounded and had been spirited away by friends.

"One of his little fingers was nearly shot off," Dr. Digby said. "He had a glancing wound in his forehead, another in his right arm and one on his hips."

Digby said Zwick was accompanied by a woman, believed by police to have been "Dago Rose" Meyer, his sweetheart who apparently helped the gunman escape.

Police are convinced that if they can capture Zwick four gang members in the Cincinnati-Hamilton area in the past few months, will be solved.

Zwick has been drawn into the net of the law on numerous occasions but has always escaped. He is described as a racketeer extraordinary and is known, according to police, to have participated in numerous gang and hi-jacking feuds.

Dr. Digby said the elusive gunman told him he had come to Newport only a few days before from West Virginia.

"I got into an argument at a camp in Kenton County and a guy did some shooting and got away," Digby quoted Zwick as saying.

Police believe Zwick is in hiding in Newport.

While rumors of revenge and a renewed flare of gang warfare in Cincinnati and environs slithered through the tense atmosphere surrounding the slaying early Tuesday of George R. "Fat" Wrasman, overlord of Butler and Hamilton County gangsters, preparations were being made today for the funeral of the slain leader.

It was persistently whispered that Joseph B. Schaefer, police detective, whose unerring eye laid "Fat" low is marked for "the spot."

Although Schaefer said he was not bothered, a neighbor, Stafford Lantz, reported to police that he fired at two prowlers in the rear of Schaefer's home early Tuesday morning a short time after the slaying.

Indications today were that a host of "Fat's" friends will attend the funeral of their leader, which will be held late Friday at his residence.

Undertakers reported it was necessary to have a special casket constructed for the slain gangster as there were none in stock large enough to hold his body.

"Fat" was probably the biggest gangster, at least physically in the country, measuring six feet two inches tall and weighing 342 pounds.

ATTORNEY'S DEATH RAISES DEATH LIST OF CLINIC TRAGEDY

CLEVELAND, O., June 13.—Henry W. Lustig, 47, prominent Cleveland attorney, died here today, sending the death list in the Cleveland Clinic catastrophe of May 15 to 128.

Lustig paid the price of heroism, according to rescuers at the scene of the tragedy. It was while he was trying to save others that he was enveloped in the deadly lethal gas that spread through the hospital.

Lustig aided several persons, including his father-in-law, to safety and was trapped by the gas when he returned to help a group of women who had been caught in a room.

He waged a persistent, but futile battle against the ravages of the gas.

Lustig was a native of Millersburg, county seat of Holmes County and was a graduate of Adelbert College, Western Reserve and aided in forming the law firm of Schwartz and Lustig.

New developments in the investigation of the clinic holocaust were seen today with the revelation that Buffery Boggs, the steam fitter who was blown out of the x-ray room, had amplified his original testimony. Boggs, it was learned, gave special testimony before the city inquisitorial body two days ago.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, June 13.—An attempt to obtain information of a "leak" in the ranks of the alleged "night riders" organization in Belmont County, by threats against W. H. McWilliams, local newspaper editor, resulted in a hurried trip to the latter's home by Prosecutor George McKelvey and aids early today.

Four men, three of whom are accused of being riders, paid an unexpected visit to the McWilliams home last midnight. Threats that his home would be suddenly broken up were made by the men, when McWilliams refused to give them information as to how a recent story on night rider activity in this county, came to reach the newspapers he said.

Prosecutor McKelvey was notified by neighbors that a "mysterious" conference was being held and he rushed to the scene and identified the men. McWilliams, who is a deputy sheriff, was warned of the visit a few minutes before and arranged to have stenographic notes taken by a reporter hidden in the bushes near his porch.

The notes will be examined to determine if any action can be filed against the men. The four alleged members of the hidden order claimed to be an "official" committee to investigate the leak in their order, which permitted publication in various newspapers of the doings of the Belmont County riders over a period of years.

The recent attack of H. L. Vanhorne, painter, and the subsequent flogging of the man, and the Barton lynching party a year ago were discussed by the men.

HAMMER DEATH BEING PROBED

CINCINNATI, O., June 13.—The body of an unidentified, middle-aged man who had been beaten to death with a hammer, was found in a tool shed near the C. & O. right-of-way here today.

The victim's head had been crushed and nearby, police found a heavy spike hammer, apparently the instrument of death.

Police believed robbery was the motive for the slaying. The man's coat pockets had been ripped open and his trouser pockets were turned inside out.

Newspapers spread over the floor indicated, police said, that the man had come to the tool shed last night to sleep.

The body was discovered by a passerby.

PROBE SHOOTING OF MAN BY DRY AGENTS

SILVER CITY, N. M., June 13.—While physicians brought all their skill into play to save the life of J. J. Thompson, federal and state officers today began investigating reports that he had been shot by prohibition agents after they had trapped him with a fake order for liquor.

Although a bullet had pierced Thompson's lung, physicians said they believed he would recover.

MRS. TUNNEY GAINS

BERLIN, June 13.—Mrs. James J. Tunney has recovered entirely from her recent release, Dr. A. W. Meyer, the surgeon who operated on her, told the United Press today. Dr. Meyer, who recently returned from his second visit to Mrs. Tunney on Brioni Island in the Adriatic, said, "In a few weeks she will be well and sound."

Woman Attacked And Robbed Identifies Tall- man Photo

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—Police hunted the north residential district today for William L. Tallman, wanted in the murder of Mrs. Virginia Patty, after a woman reported a man she believed was Tallman had entered her apartment, trussed her up with towels and fled with money and food.

The intruder, the woman—Mrs. Harry Stern—said, was pale and emaciated and wore a six day's growth of beard.

Scores of police hastened to the district and took up the hunt when Mrs. Stern identified pictures of Tallman as the intruder.

Mrs. Stern said she had telephoned for a radio repair man earlier in the evening and an hour later heard a knock at the door. On opening the door she was confronted by a pale, slight man of medium height and slight build.

"Are you the radio man?" she asked.

"Yes," he answered and walked in.

She said the man explained he had been in an automobile accident and asked if he might wash. Emerging from the bathroom with several towels on his hands, the intruder seized her. Mrs. Stern said, and bound her with the towels. He stuffed another in her mouth as a gag.

The man then took some oranges and crackers and a purse and fled but did not molest her further, Mrs. Stern said.

Mrs. Stern freed herself and called the apartment manager who notified police.

The development came on the heels of an announcement from Los Angeles police that fingerprints of Tallman corresponded to several found in the "love apartment" where Mrs. Patty was found beaten to death, her dress pulled over her head and suspended from a hook in the clothes closet.

BANDITS BIND AND ROB IDAHO STATE OFFICER

OROFINO, Ida., June 13.—A state-wide search was under way today for the four bandits who kidnaped and robbed Lieut. Gov. W. I. Kinne and left him tied to a tree where he was found last night.

Kinne said that during the period he was bound the robbers struck him several times.

The lieutenant governor was held up as he was returning home from Portland, two traveling salesmen, held with Kinne, also were released.

Four airplanes had 150 possemen, who hunted the official yesterday, continued their search today for the bandits.

FORMER JUDGE IS REMOVED BY DEATH

COLUMBUS, O., June 13.—Judge Addison P. Minshall, 55, of Chillicothe, son of the late Chief Justice Thaddeus Minshall of the state supreme court, died at Mt. Carmel Hospital here late Wednesday.

Judge Minshall was admitted to the hospital on May 11, suffering from cerebral embolism. He underwent an operation and since had been hovering between life and death.

A sudden relapse resulted in his death.

Judge Minshall was a lifelong resident of Chillicothe and was mayor of the one time state capital from 1922 to 1928.

SLAYER SOUGHT

HILLSBORO, O., June 13.—Search was resumed today for Charles Shingledecker, 55, a farmer who shot and fatally wounded his wife, mother of several children, last Saturday. Mrs. Shingledecker died as physicians were fighting to save her life. The shooting was said to have climaxed a domestic quarrel. Shingledecker disappeared and has not been heard from since.

"MISS UNIVERSE"

Miss Lisl Goldarbeiter, of Austria, has been crowned "Miss Universe" at the International Pageant of Pulchritude at Galveston, Texas. She is shown as she appeared in her bathing suit for the last parade of the pageant, after which the choice was made. Miss Magda Demetrescu, of Roumania, finished second.

MOTHER CONVICTED WITH SON ON CHARGE OF DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

Pair Contributed To Delinquency Of Girl
Is Charge

COLUMBUS, O., June 13.—A Kenton, O., mother and her son were held in jail here today, pending commitment to prisons on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a fifteen-year-old girl whom another son married.

They are Mrs. Anna Baum, 37, who was sentenced to the Marysville Reformatory for women, and her son, Glenn, 18, who was sentenced to a year in the workhouse and fined $500.

The second son, Benjamin, 21, was given a suspended sentence to the workhouse and the girl bride, Elvora Carr, was given a suspended sentence to the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware.

The case did not come to public attention until yesterday when Mrs. Baum and Glenn were summoned here from Kenton, then arrested.

A closed hearing was held in the juvenile court in which it was brought out that Mrs. Baum and Glenn accompanied Benjamin to Columbus on May 26, to get Elvora, at whose house Benjamin formerly roomed.

Shortly after the elopement Benjamin and the girl were married at Bowling Green. They then returned to Columbus and were living at 72 North Washington Ave. here when Deputy Sheriff Ralph Paul discovered them.

Mrs. Baum and the two boys were charged with encouraging Elvora to be a truant from home.

BORAH WILL STILL WORK WITH HOOVER

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Senator Borah of Idaho, who broke with President Hoover over the debenture clause of the farm relief bill, believes he is still a friend of the president and intends to work with him on issues on which they agree.

The United Press learned this today from friends of the Idaho senator, although he refused to be quoted on the situation.

Borah does not consider his vote on the debenture a breach of faith with the man he supported so ardently for the presidency.

Throughout his public career Senator Borah has voted independently, without regard to party policy.

SHOOTING OF THREE RESULTS IN LIQUOR DISPUTE IN CAPITAL

Drys, Congress And Auto
Body Condemn Enforcement

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Three prohibition shootings within the week have aroused official Washington to a high pitch of indignation and appeared today to have precipitated the first major liquor controversy of the Hoover administration.

Coming suddenly and almost simultaneously, the three instances of gunplay have placed the administration in the position of defending its enforcement methods under widespread attack.

Expressions condemning the shootings and demanding drastic action to assure their prevention in the future came today from such diverse quarters as organized drys, members of congress and the American Automobile Association.

Treasury officials bore the brunt of the attack on the two dry slayings and the third shooting which occurred late yesterday in New Mexico. Prior to receiving official reports covering the three separate incidents, the officials said they would withhold any disciplinary action.

Commissioner James M. Doran defended the prohibition bureau's record. He pointed out the two shootings along the Canadian border in which Henry Vikula, Big Falls, Minn., confectioner and Archibald Eugster, of Detroit, met death were by customs patrolmen.

The report of a shooting of an alleged bootlegger in Silver City, N. M., in which a federal dry agent was involved is the first by a federal dry agent within more than six months, Doran said.

Calling attention to the stringent treasury regulations governing use of firearms, Doran renewed assurances the treasury will act quickly to punish any federal officers guilty of violating these rules.

For more than a year, the treasury has forbidden gunplay except in self defense or to prevent commission of a crime.

Meantime Assistant Treasury Secretary Seymour Lowman partially confirmed reports the present intensive drive in the Detroit area may shortly be shifted to Buffalo and, possibly, other points on the Canadian border.

The report of a shooting of an alleged bootlegger in Silver City, N. M., in which a federal dry agent was involved is the first by a federal dry agent within more than six months, Doran said.

The movement to co-ordinate all border law enforcement activities into a single unit gained momentum in the house today as a result of the new spotlight thrown on prohibition this week.

Shootings would be much fewer, Rep. Hudson, Mich., dry spokesman, declared if the border units were unified. A bill to this end is now pending in the house.

"No consistent dry can take a position other than to express extreme regret in the enforcement of the prohibition law fatal shootings have occurred," Hudson added.

"I cannot believe that fault is entirely in the part of the enforcement officer but the use of firearms is only justified as a last resort in self defense."

House leaders indicated today they will take no immediate action on President Hoover's special message requesting appointment of a congressional commission to study merger of the federal enforcement units here. The president's message is now before the house rules committee where it is expected to lie until the regular session in December.

A strong denunciation of the dry shootings came from Rep. Schaefer, Rep., Wis., a wet leader, who described the treasury's firearms regulations as a "scrap of paper."

He termed the shooting incidents "murder" and recommended the penitentiary for all officers who disobey their instructions.

Aid for victims of the persons killed by dry agents would be provided by a bill introduced by Mrs. Florence Kahn, Rep., Calif., whose measure proposed a law authorizing the treasury to pay $25,000 to dependents of such persons.

Demand for a "showdown" by dry officers was made in a statement issued by the American Automobile Association.

FRENCH TRANSOCEANIC FLYER WEDS

After a whirlwind courtship of two weeks, Jean Assolant, pilot of the French transatlantic plane Yellow Bird, and Miss Pauline Parker, New York chorus girl, have been married at Portland, Me., from where the flyer started Thursday on a flight to Paris. The two met at a dinner given in honor of the French flyers at Old Orchard, two weeks ago.

BIBLE CONFERENCE OPENS AT CEDARVILLE; KEYNOTE HEARD

Transformed into a comfortably equipped auditorium, Alford Memorial gymnasium at Cedarville College was taxed to capacity for the opening program Wednesday night of the Bible Conference sponsored by the college.

The address of welcome was delivered by Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of the college. On the same program those in attendance heard the keynote address of the conference on the subject, "Christ Making the Impossible," delivered by Dr. Parley E. Zartman, secretary of the United Evangelical Committee, Winona, Ind.

The opening program also included an address by Dr. J. H. Supencer, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, Wooster, on the subject, "I Heard A Voice From Heaven."

The devotional period was in charge of the Rev. W. P. Harriman.

Following the Wednesday night program, Thursday was being observed as "Christian Education Day." The Rev. H. C. Gunnelt, pastor of the M. E. Church at Cedarville, was in charge of the morning session. This was followed by a musical period in charge of Mr. Quartel, assisted by Mr. Randolph.

Main addresses of the morning meeting were made by Dr. Melvin G. Kyle, St. Louis, Mo., former Xenia, on the subject, "The Problem of the Pentateuch," and by Dr. J. H. Spencer on "What Is To Be A Christian?"

One addition was made to the afternoon program Thursday when Mrs. H. E. Eavey, Xenia, gave a Bible talk at 2 p. m.

Friday has been designated as "Extending the Kingdom Day" and the program will be as follows:

9:30—Devotional period—Rev. R. A. Jamieson, of the United Presbyterian Church, Cedarville.
9:45—Musical period—Mr. Quartel.

10:00—"The Message of the Monuments"—Dr. Kyle.
10:45—"The Virgin Birth of Our Lord"—Dr. Spencer.

Friday Afternoon:
1:30—Musical.
2:00—"The Man Outside And How To Bring Him In"—Dr. Clarence E. Houk, New Concord, O.

3:45—Round table hour, led by the Rev. Alfred McConnell, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Friday Evening:
7:30—"What Must the Church Do To Be Saved"—Dr. Zartman.
8:15—"The Climax of Massing Forces"—Dr. A. Gordon MacLennan.

The state's last witness was A. S. White, a firearms expert who testified the bullet taken from the Lancaster man's body was fired from the gun alleged to have been used by Burchette.

Both were acquitted but Judge McGannon later was convicted of perjury and was sentenced to ten years imprisonment. He was given a conditional release in January, 1924, because of ill health.

Broken physically and professionally, Judge McGannon died on Nov. 17, 1928 in a dingy boarding house in Chicago where he had been attempting to build up a law practice.

Joyce died at his home here from heart trouble. His brother, Elmer, said he had been working as a real estate salesman.

Joyce and Judge McGannon were together on the night of May 8, 1920 when Kagy was shot to death. When police arrived they had disappeared but Judge McGannon's automobile was there.

Miss May E. Neely, a nurse, was the state's star witness. She arrived at the corner as the shots that killed Kagy were fired. She later died.

Edward J. Allen, former reporter accused of aiding in an alleged plot to persuade Miss Neely to alter her testimony, was drowned at Cincinnati recently.

AMERICAN PLANE IS WRECKED IN EFFORT TO START FOR ROME

Accident Prevents Proposed Race; Flyers Unhurt

OLD ORCHARD, Me., June 13.—Three French flyers, braving the Atlantic air trail, hopped off for their homeland today with Paris their goal, while their friendly rivals, two Americans, come close to disaster in what was to have been a transatlantic air race.

Eleven minutes after the giant ochre-winged French monoplane Yellow Bird had made a perfect take-off at 9:10 a. m. on its long-deferred attempted flight to Paris, Pilot Roger Q. Williams and Navigator Lewis A. Yancey narrowly escaped serious injury when their Green Flash ploughed into the sand and was wrecked.

Speeding down the crescent-shaped beach in an attempt to hop off on their projected 4,750-mile flight to Rome, the veteran American airmen had traveled only a third of a mile when their 6,500-pound craft tore into the soft sand and almost overturned.

Meanwhile, having overcome a weather jinx which kept them landbound about three weeks, Pilot Jean Assolant, navigator Rene Lafevre and Radio Operator Arno Lott, Jr., were proceeding northeastward toward Cape Sable, with the expectation of reaching Paris in thirty hours.

Hundreds of beach spectators, who had witnessed the beautiful take-off of the 13,700-pound French plane, were unprepared for the mishap which eliminated the much lighter craft from the transatlantic race.

The Green Flash, a third of a mile from the starting point at the north end of the beach, was edging toward the water when suddenly both wheels sank in the sand.

It dipped sharply forward and its nose ploughed into the tide-softened beach.

Williams and Yancey, nervous, excited and disappointed but unhurt, leaped from the cabin and hastily inspected the plane which they had expected to bring to earth in the Italian capital Saturday.

An inspection showed the ill-starred monoplane would have to be returned to the factory in Wilmington, Del., for extensive repairs and reconstruction.

Part of one of the propeller blades was shattered. The covering of the motor was badly dented and the motor was damaged. The wing strut of the left wing, joining it to the fuselage, was smashed.

As the plane's dash down the natural runway was halted abruptly by the soft sand, the machine pivoted and was facing the starting point, close to the water that a ground crew was quickly mustered to drag it out of the tide's reach.

Williams and Yancey said they probably never would attempt another take-off in the Green Flash for Rome.

At 9:50 a. m. Lieutenant Leonard M. Melka of the Gloucester, Mass., chase guard base, who was to have escorted the planes over the first 100 or 150 miles of their flights, returned to the beach.

He reported that the Yellow Bird was travelling at high speed and that it had outdistanced his Loening Amphibian, forcing him to abandon his plan to accompany it farther. The big French plane's motor seemed to be functioning perfectly, he reported, and the craft was making excellent time.

As the huge Yellow Bird soared over the sea, spectators noted it was experiencing difficulty in gaining altitude, but within two or three minutes it had climbed to an altitude of about 300 feet.

It pursued an easterly course, then swung onto a northeast base and headed toward Cape Sable.

Five minutes after the hop-off it was lost to sight over the distant horizon.

DEATH RECALLS MURDER CASE

Last Of Principals In Kagy Murder That Involved
Judge, Claimed By Grave.

CLEVELAND, O., June 13.—The death here early today of John W. Joyce, 53, marked the passing of the last of the principals in the Judge McGannon murder case that shook political circles here in 1920.

Joyce, a former saloon keeper, and William McGannon, at that time chief justice of the municipal court, were indicted for the alleged murder of Harold G. Kagy, an automobile salesman.

Both were acquitted but Judge McGannon later was convicted of perjury and was sentenced to ten years imprisonment. He was given a conditional release in January, 1924, because of ill health.

Broken physically and professionally, Judge McGannon died on Nov. 17, 1928 in a dingy boarding house in Chicago where he had been attempting to build up a law practice.

The lieutenant governor was held up as he was returning home from Portland. Two traveling salesmen, held with Kinne, also were released.

Four airplanes had 150 possemen, who hunted the official yesterday, continued their search today for the bandits.

FORMER JUDGE IS REMOVED BY DEATH

COLUMBUS, O., June 13.—Judge Addison P. Minshall, 55, of Chillicothe, son of the late Chief Justice Thaddeus Minshall of the state supreme court, died at Mt. Carmel Hospital here late Wednesday.

Judge Minshall was admitted to the hospital on May 16, suffering from cerebral embolism. He underwent an operation and since had been hovering between life and death.

A sudden relapse resulted in his death.

Judge Minshall was a lifelong resident of Chillicothe and was mayor of the one time state capital from 1922 to 1926.

SLAYER SOUGHT

HILLSBORO, O., June 13.—Search was resumed today for Charles Shingledecker, 55, a farmer who shot and fatally wounded his wife, mother of several children, last Saturday. Mrs. Shingledecker died as physicians were fighting to save her life. The shooting was said to have climaxed a domestic quarrel. Shingledecker disappeared and has not been heard from since.

"MISS UNIVERSE"

Miss Lili Goldarbeiter, of Austria, has been crowned "Miss Universe" at the International Pageant of Pulchritude at Galveston, Texas. She is shown as she appeared in her bathing suit for the last parade of the pageant, after which the choice was made. Miss Magda Demetrescu, of Roumania, finished second.

MOTHER CONVICTED WITH SON ON CHARGE OF DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

Pair Contributed To Delinquency Of Girl
Is Charge

COLUMBUS, O., June 13.—A Kenton, O., mother and her son were held in jail here today, pending commitment to prisons on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a fifteen-year-old girl whom another son married.

They are Mrs. Anna Baum, 37, who was sentenced to the Marysville Reformatory for women, and her son, Glenn, 18, who was sentenced to a year in the workhouse and fined $500.

The second son, Benjamin, 21, was given a suspended sentence to the workhouse and the girl bride, Elvora Carr, was given a suspended sentence to the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware.

The case did not come to public attention until yesterday when Mrs. Baum and Glenn were summoned here from Kenton, then arrested.

A closed hearing was held in the juvenile court in which it was brought out that Mrs. Baum and Glenn accompanied Benjamin to Columbus on May 26, to get Elvora, at whose house Benjamin formerly resided.

Shortly after the elopement Benjamin and the girl were married at Bowling Green. They then returned to Columbus and were living at 72 North Washington Ave., here when Deputy Sheriff Ralph Pal discovered them.

Mrs. Baum and the two boys were charged with encouraging Elvora to be a truant from home.

BORAH WILL STILL WORK WITH HOOVER

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Senator Borah of Idaho, who broke with President Hoover over the debenture clause of the farm relief bill, believes he is still a friend of the president and intends to work with him on issues on which they agree.

The United Press learned this today from friends of the Idaho senator, although he refused to be quoted on the situation.

Borah does not consider his vote on the debenture a breach of faith with the man he supported so ardently for the presidency.

Throughout his public career Senator Borah has voted independently, without regard to party policy.

SHOOTING OF THREE RESULTS IN LIQUOR DISPUTE IN CAPITAL

Drys, Congress And Auto
Body Condemn En-
forcement

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Three prohibition shootings within the week have aroused official Washington to a high pitch of indignation and appeared today to have precipitated the first major liquor controversy of the Hoover administration.

Coming suddenly and almost simultaneously, the three instances of gunplay have placed the administration in the position of defending its enforcement methods under widespread attack.

Expressions condemning the shootings and demanding drastic action to assure their prevention in the future came today from such diverse quarters as organized drys, members of congress and the American Automobile Association.

Treasury officials bore the brunt of the attack on the two dry slayings and the third shooting which occurred late yesterday in New Mexico. Prior to receiving official reports covering the three separate incidents, the officials said they would withhold any disciplinary action.

Commissioner James M. Doran defended the prohibition bureau's record. He pointed out the two slayings along the Canadian border in which Henry Vikula, Big Falls, Minn., confectioner and Archibald Bugster, of Detroit, met death were by customs patrolmen.

The report of a shooting of an alleged bootlegger in Silver City, N. M., in which a federal dry agent was involved is the first by a federal dry agent within more than six months, Doran said.

Calling attention to the stringent treasury regulations governing use of firearms, Doran renewed assurances the treasury will act quickly to punish any federal officers guilty of violating these rules. For more than a year, the treasury has forbidden gunplay except in self defense or to prevent commission of a crime.

Meantime Assistant Treasury Secretary Seymour Lowman partially confirmed reports the present intensive dry drive in the Detroit area may shortly be shifted to Buffalo and, possibly, other points on the Canadian border. If bootleggers driven from Detroit by the present campaign attempt to smuggle in contraband elsewhere on the border, the treasury will extend its efforts to those places, Lowman said.

The movement to co-ordinate all border law enforcement activities into a single unit gained momentum in the house today as a result of the new spotlight thrown on prohibition this week. Shootings would be much fewer, Rep. Hudson, Repn., Mich., dry spokesman, declared if the border units were unified. A bill to this end is now pending in the house.

"No consistent dry can take a position other than to express extreme regret in the enforcement of the prohibition law fatal shootings have occurred," Hudson added.

"I cannot believe that fault is entirely in the part of the enforcement officer but the use of firearms is only justified as a last resort in self defense."

House leaders indicated action on President Hoover's special message requesting appointment of a congressional commission to study merger of the federal enforcement units here. The president's message is now before the house rules committee where it is expected to lie until the regular session in December.

A strong denunciation of the dry shootings came from Rep. Schaefer, Repn., Wis., a wet leader, who described the treasury's firearms regulations as a "scrap of paper."

He termed the shooting incidents "murder" and recommended the penitentiary for all officers who disobey their instructions.

Aid for victims of the persons killed by dry agents would be provided by a bill introduced by Mrs. Florence Kah, Repn., Calif., whose measure proposed a law authorizing the treasury to pay $25,000 to dependents of such persons.

Demand for a "showdown" on the shooting of motorists by dry officers was made in a statement issued by the American Automobile Association.

AUTO KILLS CHILD

GALLIPOLIS, June 13.—Mary Strong, 8, of Wilkesville, is dead here from injuries received when she was hit by an automobile.

FRENCH TRANSOCEANIC FLYER WEDS

After a whirlwind courtship of two weeks, Jean Assolant, pilot of the French transatlantic plane Yellow Bird, and Miss Pauline Parker, New York chorus girl, have been married at Portland, Me., from where the flyer started Thursday on a flight to Paris. The two met at a dinner given in honor of the French flyers at Old Orchard, two weeks ago.

BIBLE CONFERENCE OPENS AT CEDARVILLE; KEYNOTE HEARD

Transformed into a comfortably equipped auditorium, Alford Memorial gymnasium at Cedarville College was taxed to capacity for the opening program Wednesday night of the Bible Conference sponsored by the college.

The address of welcome was delivered by Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of the college. On the same program those in attendance heard the keynote address of the conference on the subject, "Christ Making the Impossible," delivered by Dr. Parley E. Zartman, secretary of the United Evangelical Committee, Winona, Ind.

The opening program also included an address by Dr. J. H. Supencer, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, Wooster, on the subject, "I Heard A Voice From Heaven."

The devotional period was in charge of the Rev. W. P. Harriman, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Cedarville.

An outstanding feature of the opening program was a song service in which Peter Quartel, Dayton, well-known evangelistic chorister, led a great chorus made up of the combined choirs of Cedarville and adjacent churches.

A platform was arranged to seat the chorus. Mr. Quartel, who is a popular and inspiring director has frequently been called upon to lead the music for state and national conventions. He was assisted by Kenneth Randolph at the piano.

Following the Wednesday night program, Thursday was being observed as "Christian Education Day." The Rev. H. C. Gunnert, pastor of the M. E. Church at Cedarville, was in charge of the devotional period at the morning session. This was followed by a musical period in charge of Mr. Quartel, assisted by Mr. Randolph.

Main addresses of the morning meeting were made by Dr. Melvin G. Kyle, St. Louis, Mo., former Xenon, on the subject, "The Problem of the Pentateuch," and by Dr. J. H. Spencer on "What Is It To Be A Christian?"

One addition was made to the afternoon program Thursday when Mrs. H. E. Eavey, Xenia, gave a Bible talk at 2 p. m.

Friday has been designated as "Extending the Kingdom Day" and the program will be as follows:

Friday Morning
9:30—Devotional period—Rev. R. A. Jamieson, of the United Presbyterian Church, Cedarville.
9:45—Musical period—Mr. Quartel.

10:00—"The Message of the Monuments"—Dr. Kyle.
10:45—"The Virgin Birth of Our Lord"—Dr. Spencer.

Friday Afternoon
1:30—Musical.
2:00—"The Man Outside And How To Bring Him In"—Dr. Clarence E. Honk, New Concord, O.
3:45—Round table hour, led by the Rev. Alfred McConnell, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Friday Evening
7:30—"What Must the Church Do To Be Saved"—Dr. Zartmann.
8:15—"The Climax of Massing Forces"—Dr. A. Gordon MacLennan.

DEATH RECALLS MURDER CASE

Last Of Principals In Kagy Murder That Involved
Judge, Claimed By Grave.

CLEVELAND, O., June 13.—The death here early today of John W. Joyce, 53, marked the passing of the last of the principals in the Judge McGannon murder case that shook political circles here in 1920.

Joyce, a former saloon keeper, and William McGannon, at that time chief justice of the municipal court, were indicted for the alleged murder of Harold G. Kagy, an automobile salesman.

Both were acquitted but Judge McGannon later was convicted of perjury and was sentenced to ten years imprisonment. He was given a conditional release in January, 1924, because of ill health.

Broken physically and professionally, Judge McGannon died on Nov. 17, 1925 in a dingy boarding house in Cal-

AMERICAN PLANE IS WRECKED IN EFFORT TO START FOR ROME

Accident Prevents Proposed Race; Flyers
Unhurt

OLD ORCHARD, Me., June 13.—Three French fliers, braving the Atlantic air trail, hopped off for their homeland today with Paris their goal, while their friendly rivals, two Americans, come close to disaster in what was to have been a transatlantic air race.

Eleven minutes after the giant ochre-winged French monoplane Yellow Bird had made a perfect take-off at 9:10 a. m. on its long-deferred attempted flight to Paris, Pilot Roger Q. Williams and Navigator Lewis A. Yancey narrowly escaped serious injury when their Green Flash ploughed into the sand and was wrecked.

Speeding down the crescent-shaped beach in an attempt to hop off on their projected 4,500-mile flight to Rome, the veteran American airmen had traveled only a third of a mile when their 6,500-pound craft tore into the soft sand and almost overturned.

Meanwhile, having overcome a weather jinx which kept them lashed about three weeks, Pilot Jean Assolant, navigator Rene Lafevre and Radio Operator Armen Lottl, Jr., were proceeding north-eastward toward Cape Sable, with the expectation of reaching Paris in thirty hours.

Hundreds of beach spectators, who had witnessed the beautiful take-off of the 13,000-pound French plane, were unprepared for the mishap which eliminated the much lighter craft from the transatlantic race.

The Green Flash, a third of a mile from the starting point at the north end of the beach, was edging toward the water when suddenly both wheels sank in the sand.

It dipped sharply forward and its nose ploughed into the tide-softened beach.

Williams and Yancey, nervous, excited and disappointed but unhurt, leaped from the cabin and hastily inspected the plane which they had expected to bring to earth in the Italian capital Saturday.

An inspection showed the ill-starred monoplane would have to be returned to the factory in Wilmington, Del., for extensive repairs and reconditioning.

Both wheels were broken off. Part of one of the propeller blades was shattered. The covering of the motor was badly dented and the motor was damaged. The wing strut of the left wing, joining it to the fuselage, was smashed.

As the plane's dash down the natural runway was halted abruptly by the soft sand, the machine pivoted and was facing the starting point so close to the water that a ground crew was quickly mustered to drag it out of the tide's reach.

Williams and Yancey said they probably never would attempt an all-day race in the Green Flash for Rome.

At 9:50 a. m., Lieutenant Leonard M. Melka of the Gloucester, Mass., coast guard base, who was to have escorted the planes over the first 100 or 150 miles of their flights, returned to the beach.

He reported that the Yellow Bird was travelling at high speed and that it had almost reached the Amphibian, forcing him to abandon his plan to accompany it farther. The big French plane's motor seemed to be functioning perfectly, he reported, and the craft was making excellent time.

As the huge Yellow Bird soared over the sea, spectators noted it was experiencing difficulty in gaining altitude, but within two or three minutes it had climbed to an altitude of about 300 feet.

It pursued an easterly course, then swung onto a northeast course and headed toward Cape Sable.

Five minutes after the hop-off it was lost to sight over the distant horizon.

ASHES SCATTERED FROM COURT HOUSE

WASHINGTON, C. H. O., June 13.—The last request of William P. Willett, former New York publisher, that his body be cremated and his ashes scattered from the top of the courthouse here, his boyhood home, has been fulfilled. Four friends scattered the ashes from four corners of the Fayette County courthouse. Willett died in Florence, Ala., last week. Willett was the son of W. F. Willett, who died here many years ago and whose body likewise was cremated and his ashes scattered in the Ohio River from the suspension bridge in Cincinnati.

LONG trains of tank cars stand beside the loading racks at the Cleveland and Toledo refineries of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio. Into one car goes Red Crown Gasoline; into another, Sohio.

The quality of these products has been constantly and painstakingly checked and safeguarded at every stage of their manufacture. Yet before the filled cars are sealed, another and final check is made.

A pint sample is drawn from each car, and rushed to the plant laboratory for chemical analysis of quality. Until this analysis proves up to Standard Oil's high specifications, the train must wait.

Extra refinery care and modern methods, skilled workmanship and advanced equipment, combine to produce Sohio Ethyl Gasoline. More than 700 Red-White-and-Blue Standard service stations and dealers' pumps throughout the state are ready to serve you with Sohio. MANY GET BACK YOUNG APPETITE

Quick lunches usually cold, gulped down so the "dinner hour" will not be over before you can do a little playing, is the best way to ruin your stomach, and you suffer from indigestion, heartburn, bloating, nervousness, headaches, and worst of all, you get thin, pale and weak.

If you must eat that way, always keep a package of Pape's Diapapain handy so you can chew one of the pleasant-tasting tablets after your meals. It keeps the food sweet so your stomach can digest it.

Follow the experience of thousands who again have a young appetite. All druggists recommend and guarantee Pape's Diapapain to relieve indigestion and sweeten the stomach in 5 minutes. Adv.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. H. L. Sayre's Drug Store. —Adv.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS OF EACH TANK CAR'S CONTENTS

LONG trains of tank cars stand beside the loading racks at the Cleveland and Toledo refineries of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio. Into one car goes Red Crown Gasoline; into another, Sohio.

The quality of these products has been constantly and painstakingly checked and safeguarded at every stage of their manufacture. Yet before the filled cars are sealed, another and final check is made.

A pint sample is drawn from each car, and rushed to the plant laboratory for chemical analysis of quality. Until this analysis proves up to Standard Oil's high specifications, the train must wait.

Extra refinery care and modern methods, skilled workmanship and advanced equipment, combine to produce Sohio Ethyl Gasoline. More than 700 Red-White-and-Blue Standard service stations and dealers' pumps throughout the state are ready to serve you with Sohio. Find out for yourself what Standard Oil's extra precautions mean to the performance of your car.

RAYMOND D. GRIEVE ACCUSED OF FRAUD; HELD IN JAIL HERE

Raymond D. Grieve, 40, for whom authorities had been searching for several weeks on a warrant charging him with selling mortgaged property valued at $600, was arrested Wednesday by Sheriff Omer Tate at Trebeins and lodged in the County Jail.

The affidavit was signed by Mose Cramer, president of The American Loan and Realty Co., last April 20 and charges Grieve defrauded the company by disposing of property which he had mortgaged June 16, 1928.

The mortgaged property included four horses, six Jersey cows, eight Shropshire ewes, one Shropshire ram, twelve Southdown ewes and one Southdown ram, a one-third interest in fifty head of spring pigs and a 1926 model Ford truck.

Grieve appeared before R. O. Consey, Xenia Twp. Justice of the peace, Wednesday but refused to enter a plea until he obtained counsel. His arraignment was expected to take place Thursday.

Sheriff Tate said he also has a warrant for Grieve's arrest issued by Butler County authorities. He is wanted in that county on a charge of selling sheep that he did not own, the sheriff said.

Arrangements Are Made For Alumni Banquet

"THE Cast Rehearses," a one-act play, will be a feature of the Central High School Alumni Association banquet and reception at the high school Tuesday evening, June 18, at which time the Class of 1929 will be honored guests.

The play is under the direction of Miss Helen Hurley and will be presented in the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium of the school immediately following the banquet which will be served in the high school cafeteria. Members of the cast are: Mrs. Helen Huston, Miss Fay Cavanaugh, Miss Margaret Zeiler, Miss Margaret Neeld and Miss Hurley.

Music for the evening is being arranged by the Misses Lois and Marjorie Street.

The banquet arrangements are being supervised by Mrs. S. O. Hale and Mrs. Pearl Wolf. Tickets for the banquet must be obtained by Monday noon so full arrangements for the banquet may be completed. Tickets may be obtained at Geyer's, Hy-Att Shop, the county treasurer's office or the Citizens National Bank. Members of the executive committee also have tickets for sale.

"Jew" Harrington and his Campus Revelers of Wilberforce University will furnish music for dancing which will follow the program. The dance will be held in the gymnasium of the high school, and those not wishing to dance may play cards. The gym and cafeteria will be decorated under the direction of Misses Rachel and Marjorie Douthett.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY
Mrs. Homer Spahr and Mrs. Walter St. John entertained about twenty children Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Spahr, near Jamestown, in honor of Little Betty Sutton, the birthday of the children.

The afternoon was spent in playing games. A refreshment course consisting of fruit ice cream and cake was served and Betty received many nice gifts.

DELEGATES ATTEND GREAT COUNCIL
Mrs. Orville Bridgeman, Mrs. Clinton Sanders, Mrs. H. L. Karch and Mrs. Asa Price, returned home Wednesday evening from Portsmouth, Ohio, where they attended the eighteenth Great Council of the Daughters of Pocahontas. The convention was held at the new Masonic Temple on Chillicothe St., Monday and Tuesday. Mayor John Jones delivered the welcoming address Monday morning.

A large banquet was served Monday evening at which about 350 members of the Redman and Pocahontas were present. On Tuesday evening a grand parade was held.

Wednesday morning the Chamber of Commerce acted as host to the women and furnished autos for a tour of the city and across the bridge into Kentucky and back to Raven Rock Airport where Mr. Barnes the famous pilot, one of Lindbergh's instructors, made an exhibition flight.

The next Great Council will be held in Sidney, Ohio, in 1930.

INFORMAL RECEPTION PLANNED AT MEETING.
The Ladies Aid Society of the First Lutheran Church met at the home of Mrs. Harold Snyder, E. Third St., Wednesday afternoon and completed plans for an informal reception to be held at the church Monday, honoring the new pastor, the Rev. Adrian Lebold.

A splendid program is being arranged after which refreshments will be served. A routine business session was held at this time and the hostess served lovely refreshments.

Mrs. Fred Doughman, Springfield, mother of Mrs. Snyder, was the only out-of-town guest present.

The next meeting will be held in July at the home of Mrs. Lewis Urschel, E. Church St.

ENTERTAINS FOR XENIAN AT LUNCHEON.
Mrs. Elma Hurlinger, of Douglas Ave., Springfield, O., associate grand matron of the Order of Eastern Star, was hostess Wednesday at a luncheon at her home honoring Mrs. Minnie Shelley, Xenia, the occasion being her birthday.

Guests at the affair included: Mrs. Gertrude Ball, Mrs. Minnie Shelley, Miss Florence Swan and Mrs. Augusta Shumaker, all of Xenia, and Mrs. Georgina Kloefer, Mrs. Alice Whipple and daughter, Mary Alice, Mrs. Myrtle McKee, and Mrs. Effie Allen, of Springfield.

BROTHERS DIE IN FALL FROM GIRDER
DAYTON, June 13.—Larry Clark, 28, and his brother Andy Clark, 35, ironworkers, residing at 35 E. Seibenthaler Ave., Dayton, were killed Thursday morning when they were knocked from a steel girder on which they were working on Building 14, now under construction for the National Cash Register Co. plant, Brown and K. Sts.

They were employed by the Dayton Steel Construction Co., and were standing on a girder on which they were guided a steel beam to its place. After they had unhooked the chain which held the beam the engineer started to draw back the hoist, when it suddenly veered, the chain striking the brothers and knocking them to the pit, three floors below.

RAYMOND D. GRIEVE ACCUSED OF FRAUD; HELD IN JAIL HERE

Raymond D. Grieve, 40, for whom authorities had been searching for several weeks on a warrant charging him with selling mortgaged property valued at $600, was arrested Wednesday by Sheriff Omer Tate at Trebeins and lodged in the County Jail.

The affidavit was signed by Moses Cramer, president of The American Loan and Realty Co., last April 20 and charges Grieve defrauded the company by disposing of property which he had mortgaged June 16, 1928.

The mortgaged property included four horses, six Jersey cows, sight Shropshire ewes, one Shropshire ram, twelve Southdown ewes and one Southdown ram, a one-third interest in fifty head of spring pigs and a 1926 model Ford truck.

Grieve appeared before R. O. Copsey, Xenia Twp. justice of the peace, Wednesday but refused to enter a plea until he obtained counsel. His arraignment was expected to take place Thursday.

Sheriff Tate said he also has a warrant for Grieve's arrest issued by Butler County authorities. He is wanted in that county on a charge of selling sheep that he did not own, the sheriff said.

PAYING FOR JURY HAMPERING

In upholding the decision of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, which sentenced Harry F. Sinclair to serve six months in prison for hiring detectives to shadow jurors in the first Fall-Sinclair trial, the supreme court of the United States has made a ruling which probably will have a wider popular appeal than even the imposition of the sentence the oil man is now serving.

Unquestionably there are a number of people in the country whose feeling that Mr. Sinclair deserved punishment for refusing to reply to questions put by a regularly constituted senate committee was modified by resentment at the highly political methods pursued by some of the senators. But there is no room for such mixed sentiment about the new pains and penalties handed out to him.

Justice McReynolds did not exaggerate when, in delivering the opinion of the supreme court, he said that Mr. Sinclair's action struck at the very heart of the American jury system, and asserted that if such obstruction of justice should be allowed to continue, it probably would mean the end of that system.

"If those fit for juries understand that they may be freely subjected to treatment like that here disclosed, they will either shun the burdens of the service or perform it with disgust and disgust," said the justice in elaborating. "Trial by capable juries in important cases probably would become an impossibility. We can discover no reason for emasculating the power of the courts to protect themselves against this odious thing."

There is no room for dispute over the accuracy of that statement. And Justice McReynolds might justifiably have declared in addition, that the misdeed of which Mr. Sinclair stands convicted, and for which he must serve time when he finishes his present sentence, is, in its underlying spirit, akin to the activities of those who try to intimidate jurymen and judges by threatening them with guns.

THE ART OF LETTING ALONE

If we were more proficient in the art of "letting alone" we might be happier and help others be happier. It seems to be a dogged and persistent human tendency to nag and to irritate and to open situations that have once been closed. When two persons are closely associated, the knack of knowing what topics to avoid reveals a high degree of legitimate diplomacy. As one grows older one learns that but a few things matter. Why fret or bother about the great host of things that do not matter?

SHOULDER CHIPS

Men—or politicians—who go around with chips on their shoulders, waiting to be attacked are small boys who never grow up. Office holders and office seekers who are so sensitive they can hear a pin drop into a soft hat at fifty yards succeed in making themselves ridiculous. Men who jump when nobody hits them and sob on the shoulders of their henchmen when somebody crooks a finger at them are merely absurd.

"PUBLIC DEMAND"

Don't be mistaken by the office runner who says he is going to be a candidate because of the demand of his friends. Don't be fooled by the chap who says he runs only in response to public demand. The public isn't that way. The public doesn't demand that anybody run for anything—and doesn't care much. Nobody is so good, so indispensable, that the people rise up and call him from afar.

Most of us would admire a man more if he came out to open, quite honestly, and announced that he was a candidate for office because he felt that he couldn't be happy until he got that office. Most of us would admire a candidate who would say: "I want that job because I need the salary and I think I would like the work—if any—and I like to be pointed out as the Honorable So-and-So when I walk into a restaurant or go to a ball game."

Now there's a platform a man might run on, normally and honestly.

CHINA UNDER WAY

T. T. Koo, one of the ablest of Chinese leaders and a foreign secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is in this country. He brings encouraging word from the great eastern republic. China no longer is cut up with two governments. It has a nationalist government and men of education and ability in its cabinet. There are rebels, to be sure. Revolution is usually brewing, but gradually the best minds are becoming concentrated on the job of making a stable republic.

Once give China a good government and, with her marvelous resources and the sturdy, industrious character of her people, a great nation will march into the forefront of the world's affairs.

PAYMENT OF FUNDS TO VETERANS SOUGHT

By SMITH W. BROOKHART

Senator From Iowa (Smith W. Brookhart was born in Scotland county, Missouri, Feb. 2, 1869. He was educated in the country schools and Southern Iowa Normal school. After teaching school for five years, he was admitted to the bar and practiced at Washington, Ia. He was county attorney for six years and was elected to the United States Senate to fill a vacancy in 1922. He was re-elected for the term ending in 1933. A colonel in the national guard, he is a veteran of the Spanish-American and World wars. In 1912 he was chairman of the Republican state convention in Iowa. He is a Progressive Republican and has written two books on rifle training.)

My understanding is that several million of certificates, with a mature value of approximately $3,400,000,000 have been awarded to men and women who were in military service of the country during the World war. I am also advised that a large number of holders have pledged their certificates as surety for loans granted by the Veterans' bureau and by private bankers. The aggregate of such loans runs high into the millions of dollars.

That so large a percentage of veterans have been forced to hypothecate their certificates for relatively trifling advances is indication to me that there is widespread and emergent need for funds on the part of those who defended the national interest during the war.

As rapidly as certificates attain a loan value many of them are being so utilized by beneficiaries. In consequence, a substantial portion of the grant of congress to ex-service men is being dissipated by interest charges.

When congress approved the adjusted compensation act, over the bitter protest of a majority of ex-servicemen, it acknowledged that the government intended to compensate its defenders for unpaid services. The certificates are evidences that the government still owes these men and women for a portion of the wages earned by them.

Having admitted the indebtedness, the government should pay it without further delay. It is ever so

MILLIONAIRE'S ROW

HOW TO ACHIEVE BEAUTY

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

I am going to write to all the young girls the country over whose privilege it is to uphold the age-old tradition that youth should be beautiful. Of course it should be. But it isn't always. And because it can be I am going to urge the young girl to take care of her looks.

Beauty in youth is easy to have—easier than in later years, usually—because the young person's habits are not formed. She is making the foundation of her physical and mental personality, the one she will live for all the rest of her life, perhaps. And she can so easily make it a beautiful one, by setting herself on the right track of sensible good looks care, doing daily a few simple things that will mold her body and her mind now, when they are pliable and responsive, to the beauty they can have.

I especially want to stress the importance of the proper mental attitude for the young girl to take toward herself and her possibilities. Beauty begins in the mind and character. If you wish for loveliness hard enough you may have it. But not by wishing alone. You must make your wishes work for you, carry out plans, follow simple rules, do things, to accomplish what you desire.

All you young girls who have ever felt that beauty has passed you by—that you are just "naturally plain"—and that it's no use to try to do anything about it, don't despair! I promise you that you can be as pleasant to look upon, charming and attractive and altogether lovely. The young woman doesn't live who, if she has health and intelligence, cannot be attractive. It rests with you to make yourself a delightful person.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Senator Peter Norbeck's analysis of the causes responsible for recent stock market slumps is beautiful because of its simplicity.

Although chairman of the senate committee on banking and currency, the South Dakotan speaks modestly of his attainments as an economist. "My education as a well drilled," he explained to me, "never equipped me to shine in technical financial arguments with treasury experts. I may not be convinced, in a discussion concerning the federal reserve board's policies, but I can be out talked pretty readily."

"Still," continued the senator, "some financial problems seem to me easy enough for almost anyone to see through."

"Suppose I own a business that I consider worth $100,000, much better able to carry the burden than are millions of certificate holders."

Reports emanating from official sources that the payment of the certificates with funds secured through a loan flotation will increase the government's liability are without basis. On the contrary, I believe it can be demonstrated that by calling in the certificates a real economy will be effected.

I believe the government should redeem these certificates without further delay. It is my firm conviction that congress should have granted a cash bonus instead of offering veterans an unsatisfactory deferred compensation plan. No question is ever settled until it is settled right, and justice will not be done the former soldiers until the government pays them such sums as it admits is long overdue to them.

living—and not old enough to have fallen into second childhood—who can remember when "dollar wheat" was the American farmer's idea of almost plutocratic affluence.

"To be sure," agrees the senator. "The man who put up a new office building just before the war, estimated it, say, as a $1,000,000 asset to him—for the excellent reason that it cost him $1,000,000 to build."

"Today it's a 2,000,000 asset, because now it would cost $2,000,000 to build."

"Labor," went on the South Dakotan, "with organization and immigration restrictions as its weapons, has doubled its wages. Everything has doubled—except the farmer's pre-war investment and present-day returns for his products. They have stood still—which means that they have been cut in two. "Dollar wheat" is 50-cent wheat. "That's the farm problem in a nutshell."

Beef Croquettes
Asparagus on Toast
Lettuce, Green Onion, Radish
Salad, French Dressing
Strawberry Shortcake

Have you ever had your family reduced suddenly by members being called away from home, leaving you with a large piece of meat on your hands with few to eat it? There are numerous ways of getting rid of it without the family growing weary. Croquettes are one way and stuffing green peppers with much the same ingredients is another.

Today's Recipe

Beef Croquettes—Two cups ground lean cooked beef, one mashed potatoes, three tablespoons gravy or stock, one tablespoon onion juice, one tablespoon chopped parsley, one tablespoon butter, tabasco sauce as desired, salt, pepper, dry grated bread crumbs, one egg beaten with one tablespoon water, fat for deep frying. Cook the parsley in butter, mix with meat, potato, gravy and other seasonings. Mold into croquette shape, dip in egg, roll in bread crumbs, and let stand an hour or so to dry coating. Heat the fat to 350 degrees or until a cube of bread browns in 40 seconds. Place time in the frying quettes at a lower slowly into the hot fat for two minutes, or until they are golden brown. Remove and drain on sheet of paper. Serve hot with parsley garnish and tomato sauce. Potatoes may be omitted in this recipe and more gravy or white sauce added.

NON-GROWING TOENAILS

"My daughter, aged 26, had no toenails when she was born. (She was a premature birth.) They are now about one-quarter of an inch long and never seem to grow to normal size and won't grow long enough to protect her toes. They turn up, are very loose, and some of them come off. They cause her a great deal of agony because her shoes rub against them. She reached 15 before she complained, but as a child I took great care of her feet, and saw that her shoes were wide enough and comfortable. She won't go to a doctor, so I am forced to ask you for advice. Mrs. M."

I have never heard of, nor can I find in my literature, a case where premature birth has caused a non-development of the nails after birth. Are you sure your girl didn't have some constitutional disease? If not, then it would look as though there were some disturbance of the circulation or the nerve supply of the toes, so the nails won't grow. She must perform exercise the same precaution about her shoes that you did, Mrs. M. She must wear them two sizes longer and a width wider than she would have to from the actual measurement of the foot.

The fingernails grow considerably faster than the toenails do, and it is thought this may be due to the fact that they are continuously exposed to the sun and air. Perhaps if your girl would go bare-footed all she can in the house, and expose her toes to the sunlight, it might have some effect on the growth. Or she might have the ultra-violet ray treatment if she cannot go bare-footed in the sunlight.

The only thing I can think of to protect her toes, is to get some chiropodist felt, such as the pads used for corns are made of. It is faced with adhesive plaster or a gummy layer. Cut little strips of it about one-half inch wide, long enough to go around the ends of the toes, and put one on each toe, having them extend up a little to protect the nails. She must have her shoes wide enough and long enough so that they won't press the toes.

She should have a physical examination, including a blood examination. Perhaps a dermatologist (skin specialist) could help her.

M.—Where much weight is lost, especially after 40, there is bound to be some flabbiness. However, this can be minimized by reducing gradually, and for the face, the application of ice or ice cold water, three or four times a day, and a smart patting to stimulate the circulation. You'll find, after you've stopped reducing, that the skin will tighten up some, anyway.

For your abdomen: The remaining fat is bound to be very soft, but when that is gone, you should have firm muscles underneath, if you exercise along with your reducing, which you should do. If you haven't the article on the Abdominal Wall, send for it. It will help you.

Those who need instructions on reducing may have our pamphlet on the subject by following column rules.

Miss J.—Yes, I do believe in the Birth Control movement. Your letter indicates that you misunderstand its aims entirely. If you will read their magazine, the Birth Control Review, you will find that its purpose, instead of retarding civilization, is just the reverse. You can get the magazine in the bookstores or library, or by writing direct to the Birth Control Association, 104 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Tomorrow: Answers to Mothers.

LIVING AND LOVING

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"If you would be strong, be quiet and unafraid."

That would be a good motto in this day of noise and fear, wouldn't it? We don't like quiet, judging from all the things we use to make a noise. And we are afraid of so many things, illness and poverty, losing our jobs and being alone, the adventure of life and old age and death. How much more effective we would be if we were quiet, as nature is underneath all her activities—and unafraid.

The following letter did my heart good. This little sister is a born rebel and suffragette, whether she knows it or not.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Would you like to say something to these girls who are always worrying about what to do. If women don't stop 'boohooing' around over nothing they will never be able to please anyone. They always think they have to broadcast to everyone what they do and what they don't do. If they would suit themselves and claim half the credit instead of letting the boys have it all, there wouldn't be so much trouble. I believe in meeting the world half way. It's no worse for us to do things than for boys. As to Bernice, what she does is nobody's business but her own. Why tell anyone about yourself? The less you tell them the better off you are. They don't tell us what they do."

Then this line about men not wanting second-hand women. We don't want second-hand men. We have to take them the way they are. Let them do the same. What good does it do for girls to be good if they aren't?

"I wish girls would stand by one another like men do. Instead they are always deceiving some other girl and trying to please some poor, selfish spineless sheik that isn't worth it. I don't believe in this one-sided affair. I believe in respect on both sides and blame the one at fault regardless of whom it may be."

MAGGIE.

Good for you, Maggie. I agree.

with you all except the women not standing by one another. I have had so many fine, loyal women friends that I must stand up for our sex. Not all men are fair to their kind, either. I've seen men play some pretty scurvy tricks on one another as well as standing by one another.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am in love with a boy. I see him every day and he always speaks and sometimes talks about different things. When at a party he will never notice me and acts like he is mad. Please tell me how I could get him to notice me. DOWNHEARTED."

He's probably shy. Downhearted. Pay no attention. He'll get over it as he grows older.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: What is the matter with me? I have known a crowd of boys and girls since school days. We all belong to the same club, therefore meet pretty often. When we have a dance or go to one, none of them dance with me. They all seem to like me and like to talk to me, but what is the matter that none of them dance with me or take me home? Am I considered a nice girl, pretty, and do not drink, smoke or swear. Am I not dressed neatly. I am not bashful with them and can converse intelligently. These things do not seem to be in my favor."

"A WALLFLOWER." Do you dance well? If you don't that might account for it. Maybe you are more interested in yourself and not enough in them. Try talking about what they are interested in, and when a young man asks you for a dance, as that one you speak of did, accept, but don't make him feel foolish by refusing, even if his manner was a bit obtrusive.

BURN-UP: The boy may be shy in a crowd and afraid of being "kidded." Just be friendly and pleasant and pay no attention.

LONESOME WIDOW: Address cannot be exchanged through this column.

PETER'S ADVENTURES

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE LITTLE HOUSE WITH BARS

Cardinal was out of breath, so Indigo Bunting took up the tale. "If one must be taken from his family, I must be taken from the happy life of the woods, out of the bright sunshine forever, it is hard to tell whether it is better to have the worst happen suddenly or to be spared to live through months of misery, a prisoner."

"Have you ever had to say goodbye to all those whom you love, and leave them, pretty sure you would never see them again?" Indigo Bunting turned to the queen suddenly and asked this question.

"No," said Peter. "I haven't. It must be dreadfully hard."

"It is!" declared Indigo Bunting, decidedly. "I know, for last spring I was taken a prisoner myself, but my jailer had a kind heart, and when he saw how sad I was, how I could neither eat nor sing, one fine morning he opened the bars of my cage and away I flew."

"I hadn't flown, though, because I hadn't had time to think. And though I had not opened my mouth for days, you should have heard my song of praise and thanksgiving. I am sure my notes were never more beautiful before."

"You see, Cardinal and I and our cousin, Mocking-Bird, are the opera singers of Birddom. And it is for our voices that we are made prisoners. All the while I was in that cage I wished I had been born dumb, but when I was given back my freedom, how happy was I that I had a voice with which to sing! "I, too, have been a prisoner," declared the Cardinal. "But my captor was not kind at all, but cruel. When he found I would not sing he starved me, as he said. But he forgot and left the cage unlocked. I had been waiting for just such a chance, and I'll bet lightning traveled no faster than did I once I got on the right side of that house with bars."

"It was one afternoon in the autumn that I was taken captive. I had been out seed hunting and had just reached the tree in which I was to be kept. I kept house when I was something dropped upon me, something as light as a feather, and through which I could see, but from which I could not escape. A net, the Two-Legs called it."

"How my wife and children did weep and beg the hunter to let me go! He paid no attention to them nor to my cries of fright and anger, but caught me in his great hand and carried me away."

"It was spring when I came back to the tree where our home had been, but it was home no longer. Wife and the children had gone. Where, I could never find out—where, I had been destroyed. Perhaps my dear ones are even now pining away in some far-off prison."

Many famous trials seem to be contests in oratory and evasion, rather than surveys of facts. As a result, the criminal has prospered.

The ten men and one woman Mr. Hoover has selected represent every section of the United States. They are extraordinarily well fitted to cope with the difficult task ahead. Every American citizen who is interested in preserving individual liberty and constitutional rights, and punishing criminals, will wish them success.

New Yorkers are talking about a city of 21,000,000 by 1965. And yet most of them probably disbelieve in hell as a place.

The time a reporter tipped Salm von Hoogstraeten that the docks of the Rogers family were after him, and caused the count to break a date and get his settlement.

The time the papers in Europe refused to print the inside on the tennis racket, wherein the amateurs were staked for appearing in hotel tournaments. And how only Variety would dare spill the yarn.

THE WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

THE ART OF LETTING ALONE

If we were more proficient in the art of "letting alone" we might be happier and help others be happier. It seems to be a dogged and persistent human tendency to nag and to irritate and to open situations that have once been closed. When two persons are closely associated, the knack of knowing what topics to avoid reveals a high degree of legitimate diplomacy. As one grows older one learns that but a few things matter. Why fret or bother about the great host of things that do not matter?

SHOULDER CHIPS

Men—or politicians—who go around with chips on their shoulders, waiting to be attacked are small boys who never grow up. Office holders and office seekers who are so sensitive they can hear a pin drop into a soft hat at fifty yards succeed in making themselves ridiculous. Men who jump when nobody hits them and sob on the shoulders of their henchmen when somebody crooks a finger at them are merely absurd.

"PUBLIC DEMAND"

Don't be mistaken by the office runner who says he is going to be a candidate because of the demand of his friends. Don't be fooled by the chap who says he runs only in response to public demand. The public isn't that way. The public doesn't demand that anybody run for anything—and doesn't care much. Nobody is so good, so indispensable, that the people rise up and call him from afar. Most of the one who would be a man more if he came out in the open, quite honestly, and announced that he was a candidate for office because he felt that he couldn't be happy until he got that office. Most of us would admire a candidate who would say, "I want that job because I need the salary and I think I would like the work—if any—and I like to be pointed out as the Honorable So-and-So when I walk into a restaurant or go to a ball game."

Now there's a platform a man might run on, normally and honestly.

CHINA UNDER WAY

T. Z. Koo, one of the ablest of Chinese leaders and a foreign secretary of the Y. M. C. A. is in this country. He brings encouraging news from the great eastern republic. China is no longer cut up with two governments. It has a nationalistic government and men of education and ability in its cabinet. There are rebels, to be sure. Revolution is usually brewing, but gradually the best minds are being concentrated on the job of making a stable republic.

Once give China a good government and, with her marvelous resources and the sturdy, industrious character of her people, a great nation will march into the forefront of the world's affairs.

PAYMENT OF FUNDS TO VETERANS SOUGHT

By SMITH W. BROOKHART
Senator From Iowa

(Smith W. Brookhart was born in Scotland county, Missouri, Feb. 2, 1869. He was educated in the country schools and Southern Iowa Normal school. After teaching school for five years, he was admitted to the bar and practiced at Washington, Ia. He was county attorney for six years and was elected to the United States Senate to fill a vacancy in 1922. He was re-elected for the term ending in 1933. A colonel in the national guard, he is a veteran of the Spanish-American and World wars. In 1912 he was chairman of the Republican state convention in Iowa. He is a Progressive Republican and has written two books on rifle training.)

My understanding is that several million of certificates, with a mature value of approximately $3,400,000 have been awarded to men and women who were in military service of the country during the World war. I am also advised that a large number of holders have pledged their certificates as surety for loans granted by the Veterans' bureau and by private bankers. The aggregate of such loans runs high into the millions of dollars.

That so large a percentage of veterans have been forced to hypothecate their certificates for relatively trifling advances is indicative to me that there is widespread and emergent need for funds on the part of those who defended the national interest during the war.

As rapidly as certificates attain a loan value by means of being so utilized by beneficiaries. In consequence, a substantial portion of the grant of congress to ex-service men is being dissipated by interest charges.

When congress approved the adjusted compensation act, over the bitter protest of a majority of ex-service men, it acknowledged that the government intended to compensate its defenders for unpaid services. The certificates are evidence that the government still owes these men and women for a portion of the wages earned by them.

Having admitted the indebtedness, the government should pay it without further delay. It is ever so

MILLIONAIRE'S ROW

HOW TO ACHIEVE BEAUTY

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

I am going to write to all the young girls the country over whose privilege it is to uphold the age-old tradition that youth should be beautiful. Of course it should be. But it isn't always. And because it can be I am going to urge the young girl to take care of her looks.

Beauty in youth is easy to have—easier than in later years, usually—because the young person's habits are not formed. She is making the foundation of her physical and mental personality, the one she will live for all the rest of her life, perhaps. And she can so easily make it a beautiful one, by setting herself on the right track of sensible good looks care, doing daily a few simple things that will mold her body and her mind now, when they are pliable and responsive, to the beauty they can have.

I especially want to stress the importance of the proper mental attitude for the young girl to take toward herself and her possibilities. Beauty begins in the mind and character. If you wish for loveliness hard enough you may have it. But not by wishing alone. You must make your wishes work for you, carry out plans, follow simple rules, do things, to accomplish what you desire.

All you young girls who have ever felt that beauty has passed you by—that you are just "naturally plain"—and that it's no use to try to do anything about it, don't despair! I promise you that you can be pleasant to look upon, charming and attractive and altogether lovely. The young woman doesn't live who, if she has health and intelligence, cannot be attractive. It rests with you to make yourself a delightful person.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Senator Peter Norbeck's analysis of the causes responsible for recent stock market slumps is beautiful because of its simplicity.

Although chairman of the senate committee on banking and currency, the South Dakotan speaks modestly of his attainments as an economist. "My education as a well driller," he explained to me, "never equipped me to shine in technical financial arguments with treasury experts. I may not be convinced, in a discussion concerning the federal reserve board's policies, but I can be out talked pretty readily."

"Still," continued the senator, "some financial problems seem to me easy enough for almost anyone to see through."

"Suppose I own a business that I consider worth $100,000, much better able to carry the burden than are millions of certificate holders.

Reports emanating from official sources that the payment of the certificates with funds secured through a loan flotation will increase the government's liability are without basis. On the contrary, I believe it can be demonstrated that by calling in the certificates a real economy will be effected.

I believe the government should redeem these certificates without further delay.

It is my firm conviction that congress should have granted a cash bonus instead of offering veterans an unsatisfactory deferred compensation plan. No question is ever settled until it is settled right, and justice will not be done the former soldiers until the government pays them such sums as it admits is long overdue to them.

Begin now and work toward it. And first of all, feel assured within yourself that you can be lovely, that you are lovely. Remember that "within you there is latent beauty." Remember, "every woman can be beautiful" is my world famous rainbow of hope for each and every one of you. Make up your mind to develop it and put all fear and timidity aside, because fear and beauty do not get along well together.

If you think that I am promising an unbelievable gift in promising you beauty, remember this: Beauty today depends upon no fixed standards of size or shape, regularity of features or coloring. Beauty today is individual, it varies with the person. The girl with irregular features, red hair and even freckles, may be more pleasantly delightful to look at than a blue-eyed, blonde-haired girl whose features are as regular as a cameo.

Some few requirements beauty does make of anyone. Health is one, and a harmony of color and line are two others. Under health comes the charm of a strong, supple body, neither too thin or too fat; clear, fine skin; radiant hair; white, well-cared for teeth; bright, fresh eyes; a pleasant, normal mind.

Under harmony of color and line comes the knowledge of how to move gracefully; how to dress your hair becomingly; how to use the right colors and lines in your clothes, and the best cosmetics, properly.

The young girl of normal intelligence can achieve all these things. That is why beauty is possible for her, and why she should make a sensible effort to have it in the greatest measure she can.

living—and not old enough to have fallen into second childhood—who can remember when "dollar wheat" was the American farmer's idea of almost plutocratic affluence.

"To be sure," agrees the senator, "but what has happened since then?"

"The man who put up a new office building just before the war, estimated it, say, as a $1,000,000 asset to him—for the excellent reason that it cost him $1,000,000 to build it."

"Today it's a 2,000,000 asset, because now it would cost $2,000,000 to build."

"Labor," went on the South Dakotan, "with organization and immigration restrictions as its weapons, has doubled its wages."

"Everything has doubled—except the farmer's pre-war investment and present-day returns for his products. They have stood still—which means that they have been cut in two."

"Dollar wheat" is 50-cent wheat. "That's the farm problem in a nutshell."

Beef Croquette's
Asparagus on Toast
Lettuce, Green Onion, Radish
Salad, French Dressing
Strawberry Shortcake
Have you ever had your family reduced suddenly by members being called away from home, leaving you with a large piece of meat on your hands with few to eat it? There are numerous ways of getting rid of it without the family growing weary. Croquette's are one way and stuffing green peppers with much the same ingredients is another.

Today's Recipe

Beef Croquette's—Two cups ground lean cooked beef, one mashed potatoes, three tablespoons gravy or stock, one tablespoon onion juice, one tablespoon chopped parsley, one tablespoon butter, tabasco sauce as desired, salt, pepper, dry grated bread crumbs, one egg beaten with one tablespoon water, fat for deep frying. Cook the parsley in butter, mix with meat, potato, gravy and other seasonings. Mold into croquette shape, dip in egg, roll in bread crumbs, and let stand an hour or so to dry coating. Heat the fat to 350 degrees or until a cube of bread browns in 40 seconds. Place two or three croquette's at a time in the frying basket and lower slowly into the hot fat for two minutes, or until they are golden brown. Remove and drain on sheet of paper. Serve hot with parsley garnish and tomato sauce. Potatoes may be omitted in this recipe and more gravy or white sauce added.

Suggestions

A short length of the discarded garden hose will make an excellent rug beater.

A pad made of a bunch of newspapers is a great convenience to kneel on when setting out plants or weeding the garden.

Place a carpet rug (not a rag rug) on the bedspread when it rains, placing it lengthwise in the middle of the spring under the mattress.

Use lemons to clean a bottle by cutting the lemon into small pieces and dropping them into the bottle, half filled with water, and shaking well.

An easy way to crush nuts is to use a rolling pin on a board.

Tweed is used for an effective ensemble of hat, shoes and bag. The shoes are trimmed with leather and are cravenetted.

NON-GROWING TOENAILS

"My daughter, aged 26, had no toenails when she was born. (She was a premature birth.) They are now about one-quarter of an inch long and never seem to grow to normal size and won't grow long enough to protect her toes. They turn up, are very loose, and some of them come off. They cause her a great deal of agony because her shoes rub against them. She reached 15 before she complained, but as a child I took great care of her feet, and saw that her shoes were wide enough and comfortable. She won't go to a doctor, so I am forced to ask you for advice. Mrs. M."

I have never heard of, nor can I find in my literature, a case where premature birth has caused a non-development of the nails after birth. Are you sure your girl didn't have some constitutional disease? If not, then it would look as though there were some disturbance of the circulation or the nerve supply of the toes, so the nails won't grow. She must perform exercise the same precaution about her shoes that you did, Mrs. M. She must wear them two sizes longer and a width wider than she would have to from the actual measurement of the foot.

The fingernails grow considerably faster than the toenails do, and it is thought this may be due to the fact that they are continuously exposed to the sun and air. Perhaps if your girl would go bare-footed all she can in the house and expose her toes to the sunlight, it might have some effect on the growth. Or she might have the ultra-violet ray treatment if she cannot go bare-footed in the sunlight.

The only thing I can think of to protect her toes, is to get some chiropodist felt, such as the pads used for corns are made of. It is faced with adhesive plaster or a gummy layer. Cut little strips of it about one-half inch wide, long enough to go around the ends of the toes, and put one on each toe, having them extend up a little to protect the nails. She must have her shoes wide enough and long enough so that they won't press the toes.

She should have a physical examination, including a blood examination. Perhaps a dermatologist (skin specialist) could help her.

M.—Where much weight is lost, especially after 40, there is bound to be some flabbiness. However, this can be minimized by reducing gradually, and for the face, the application of ice or ice cold water, three or four times a day, and a smart patting to stimulate the circulation. You'll find, after you've stopped reducing, that the skin will tighten up some, anyway.

For your abdomen: The remaining fat is bound to be very soft, but when that is gone, you should have firm muscles underneath, if you exercise along with your reducing, which you should do. If you haven't the article on the Atonic Abdominal Wall, send for it. It will help you.

Those who need instructions on reducing may have our pamphlet on the subject by following column rules.

Miss J.—Yes, I do believe in the Birth Control movement. Your letter indicates that you misunderstand it's aims entirely. If you will read their magazine, the Birth Control Review, you will find that its purpose, instead of retarding civilization, is just the reverse. You can get the magazine in the bookstores or library, or by writing direct to the Birth Control Association, 104 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

LIVING AND LOVING

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"If you would be strong, be quiet and unafraid."

"That would be a good motto in this day of noise and fear, wouldn't it? We don't like quiet, judging from all the things we use to make a noise. And we are afraid of so many things, illness and poverty, losing our jobs and being alone, the adventure of life and old age and death. How much more effective we would be if we were quiet, as nature is underneath all her activities—and unafraid."

The following letter did my heart good. This little sister is a born rebel and suffragette, whether she knows it or not.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Would just like to say something to these girls who are always worrying about what to do. If women don't stop 'boo hooing' around over nothing they will never be able to please anyone. They always think they have to broadcast to everyone what they do and what they don't do. 'If they would suit themselves and claim half the credit instead of letting the boys have it all, there wouldn't be so much trouble. I believe in meeting the world half way. It's no worse for us to do things than for boys. As to Bernice, what she does is nobody's business but herself. Why tell anyone about yours? The less you tell them the better off you are. They don't tell us what they do."

"Then this line about men not wanting second-hand women. We don't want second-hand men. We have to take them the way they are. Let them do the same. What good does it do for girls to be good if they aren't?"

"I wish girls would stand by one another like men do. Instead they are always deceiving some other girl and trying to please some poor, selfish spineless sheik that isn't worth it. I don't believe in this one-sided affair. I believe in respect on both sides and blame the one at fault regardless of whom it may be."

MAGGIE

Good for you, Maggie. I agree with you all except the women not standing by one another. I have had so many fine, loyal women friends that I must stand up for our sex. Not all men are fair to their kind, either. I've seen men play some pretty scurvy tricks on one another as well as standing by one another.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am in love with a boy. I see him every day and he always speaks and sometimes talks about different things. When at a party he will never notice me and acts like he is mad. Please tell me how I could get him to notice me. DOWNHEARTED."

He's probably shy. Downhearted. Pay no attention. He'll get over it as he grows older.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: What is the matter with me? I have known a crowd of boys and girls since school days. We all belong to the same club, therefore meet pretty often. When we have a dance or go to one, none of them dance with me. They all seem to like me and like to talk to me, but what is the matter that none of them dance with me or take me home? Am I considered a nice girl, pretty, and do not drink, smoke or swear. Am all ways dressed neatly. I am not bashful with them and can converse intelligently. These things do not seem to be in my favor."

"A WALLFLOWER."

Do you dance well? If you don't that might account for it. Maybe you are more interested in yourself and not enough in them. Try talking about what they are interested in, and when a young man asks you for a dance, as that one you speak of did, accept, and don't make him feel foolish by refusing, even if his manner was a bit obtrusive.

BURN-UP: The boy may be shy in a crowd and afraid of being "kidded." Just be friendly and pleasant and pay no attention.

LONESOME WIDOW: Address cannot be exchanged through this column.

PETER'S ADVENTURES

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE LITTLE HOUSE WITH BARS

Cardinal was out of breath, so Indigo Bunting took up the tale. "If one must be taken from his family, snatched away from the happy life of the woods, out of the forest sunshine forever, it is hard to tell whether it is better to have the worst happen suddenly or to be spared to live through months of misery, a prisoner."

"Have you ever had to say goodbye to all those whom you love, and leave them, pretty sure you would never see them again?" Indigo Bunting turned to the boy suddenly and asked this question.

"No," said Peter. "I haven't. It must be awfully hard."

"It is!" declared Indigo Bunting, decidedly. "I know, for last spring I was taken a prisoner myself, but my jailer had a kind heart, and when he saw how sad I was, how I could neither eat nor sing, one fine morning he opened the bars of my cage and away I flew."

"I hadn't flown far, though, before I hurried back to thank him. And though I had not opened my mouth for days, you should have heard my song of praise and thanksgiving. I am sure my notes were never more beautiful before."

"You see, Cardinal and I and our cousin, Mocking-Bird, are the opera singers of Birddom, and it is for our voices that we are made prisoners. All the while I was in that cage I wished I had been born dumb, but when I was given back my freedom, how happy was I that I had a voice with which to sing!"

"I, too, have been a prisoner," declared the Cardinal. "But my captor was not kind at all, but cruel. When he found I would not sing he starved me to try to make me find my voice, as he said. But he forgot and left the cage unlocked. I had been waiting for just such a chance, and I'll bet lightning traveled no faster than did I once I got on the right side of that house with bars."

"It was one afternoon in the autumn that I was taken captive. I had been out seed hunting and had just reached the tree in which wife and I kept house when—swish!—something dropped upon me, something as light as a feather and through which I could see, but from which I could not escape. A net. The Two-Legs called it."

"How my wife and children did weep and beg the hunter to let me go! He paid no attention to them nor to my cries of fright and anger, but caught me in his great hand and carried me away."

"It was spring when I came back to the tree where our home had been, but it was home no longer. Wife and the children had gone. I could never find out—where our nest had been destroyed. Perhaps my dear ones are even now pining away in some far-off prison."

FRAMED

H. L. Sayre, Xenia druggist and golfer extraordinary, is the proud possessor of a handsomely engraved tin cup which represents his prowess at golf in the Miami Valley Rexall Club.

Sayre won the "cup" for the third time at the tournament conducted by the organization at its meeting at the Snow Hill Country Club, Wilmington last week.

But this fact is all the more remarkable because he has won the cup three of the four years that the annual tournaments have been held. Sayre won the cup the first year at Troy and lost it the second year at Eaton. He recovered his possession at the tournament over the Xenia Country Club course last summer and then won it the third time at Snow Hill. Fifty druggists attended the meeting and enjoyed a dinner at the club. Charles L. Perry, Wilmington, was re-elected president of the organization.

The days before the late Rev. Isaac Hoctor, former pastor of St. Bridg Church, had become a priest and was a member of the Glendale baseball team at Cincinnati, were recalled recently in an article in the Cincinnati Post by Rev. Mulford, Jr., one-time sports writer. Mulford obtained his information from Colonel William Cooper Proctor, prominent Cincinnati, who was a member of the same team. Proctor was catcher for the team and the Rev. Father John Hickey played first base in those days, although that was before his seminary days.

Four of the players entered the priesthood, including John, Edward and George Hickey and Isaac Hoctor, who was one of the best loved of St. Bridg priests for many years before his death and is still remembered by many Xenians of all faiths. Colonel Proctor recalled that he was considered a lightweight by the rest of the boys and told of the day he played wearing a Princeton shirt bearing the class numerals '82. A fan yelled "what's them figures on Cooper Proctor's chest?" and young Hoctor, with a twinkle in his eye, replied: "Why, don't you know? That means he weighs 82 ounces!"

"Cam" McDonald, now president of the Cincinnati Reds, also recalled the Glendale team and the day that team clashed with Woodward. "Sure Colonel Proctor was in the game and the Hickeyes too!" he said. "Father John" had other baseball honors to his credit also, as he played on the famous American team in the days of his studies for the priesthood at the American College in Rome.

TO DISCUSS RUSSIA AT MEETING HERE

LONDON, England, June 13.—Russia's importance in the European disarmament situation may be emphasized by Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister, in conferences with President Hoover during MacDonald's proposed visit to Washington late this summer.

England herself probably will defer recognition of Soviet Russia until after MacDonald returns from the United States with a clear first-hand knowledge of why the United States heretofore has refrained from recognizing the Soviet.

Russian recognition was one of the foremost planks of the Labor party's pre-election campaign, and the promise had been made to resume diplomatic relations immediately on assumption of office by MacDonald and his followers.

With the election won, however, MacDonald in office, the former daily news correspondent of the Daily News said today that MacDonald had decided to postpone resumption of relations until he has had an opportunity to talk with Mr. Hoover personally.

By GEORGE STOVALL
Former Star Big League First Baseman and Former Manager Cleveland Indians, St. Louis Browns and Kansas City Federals. Written Especially for Central Press and The Gazette.

The hamlet of Paoli, O., is the home town of a farmer who holds many baseball records that will stand the test of time. The tiller of the soil is "Cy" Young, whose wonderful record as a pitcher forms a bright chapter in the history of the game.

Young was in baseball continuously for twenty-three years. In the second game of a double-header against Washington in 1910 Cy pitched his 500th victory in the majors—a truly marvelous record.

Other pitchers may have been more brilliant or successful than Cy for brief periods, but none can equal him in long years of service and steady work in the pitcher's box.

In his long career he failed but three times to win more than half his games in a single season, and in one or two of these years he was playing with a weak club, so the fault could hardly be called his.

Cy was a teammate of mine on the Cleveland club and I watched the fadeout of this great player's career in 1911 after twenty-three years of service. He had his debut in the old National League in 1890 as a pitcher for Cleveland, remaining with that club until 1898. He was at St. Louis for the next two years. From 1901 until 1908 Cy pitched for the Boston Americans. He wound up his career—as he began it—at Cleveland.

Cy Young was one of the game's most loved characters. He had an even disposition which made him a favorite with players and fans. For consistency and steadiness in the box, year after year, Young had no equal.

PROSECUTOR NOT TO STOP DOG RACING

LONDON, O., June 13.—Prosecutor Deane Richmond today reiterated that he would not take the initiative in a second attempt to halt dog racing at West Jefferson, despite demands from Governor Myers V. Cooper.

Richmond conferred with the governor in Columbus yesterday and it was said after the conference that the governor, other state officials and Madison County authorities would join in a campaign to halt the races.

"I told the governor I could do nothing further towards stopping the races," Richmond declared. "I told him no one had complained officially to me and that I could do nothing."

Betting on the races continued last night.

AUTOISTS FINED ON TRAFFIC CHARGES

Ira Vandervoort, Wilmington trucker, and Curtis DeHaven, of near Cedarville, were each fined $10 and costs for traffic violations by Probate Judge S. C. Wright Wednesday, marking the first arrests in the campaign by county authorities to round up road law violators in Greene County.

Vandervoort pleaded guilty to driving an overloaded truck and DeHaven entered a guilty plea to operating an auto equipped with only one headlight and no tail light.

When your Children Cry
for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however; harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that baby becomes fretful, or restless. Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

IN THE COURT OF Oyer and Terminer Prosecutor Ave J. David began his final plea that the state might take the life of the elderly broken man who has confessed he married Mrs. Mildred Mowry higanously and murdered her in a New Jersey roadside because he needed the $1,000 she had saved from a life time of work.

David asked the death penalty.

SPORT
SHOTSFRAMED
by Phil

H. L. Sayre, Xenia druggist and golfer extraordinary, is the proud possessor of a handsomely engraved tin cup which represents his prowess at golf in the Miami Valley Golf Club.

Sayre won the "cup" for the third time at the tournament conducted by the organization at its meeting at the Snow Hill Country Club, Wilmington last week.

But this fact is all the more remarkable because he has won the cup three of the four years that the annual tournaments have been held. Sayre won the cup the first year at Troy and lost it the second year at Eaton. He recovered its possession at the tournament over the Xenia Country Club course last summer and then won it the third time at Snow Hill. Fifty druggists attended the meeting and enjoyed a dinner at the club. Charles L. Perry, Wilmington, was re-elected president of the organization.

The days before the late Rev. Isaac Hickey, former pastor of St. Bridget Church, had become a priest and was a member of the Glendale baseball team at Cincinnati, were recalled recently in an article in the Cincinnati Post by Rev. Mulford, Jr., one-time sports writer. Mulford obtained his information from Colonel William Cooper Proctor, prominent Cincinnati, who was a member of the same team. Proctor was catcher for the team and the Rev. Father John Hickey played first base in those days, although that was before his seminary days.

Four of the players entered the priesthood, including John, Edward and George Hickey and Isaac Hickey, who was one of the best beloved of St. Bridget priests for many years before his death and is still remembered by many Xenians of all faiths. Colonel Proctor recalled that he was considered a lightweight by the rest of the boys and told of the day he played wearing a Princeton shirt bearing the class numerals '82. A fan yelled "what's them figures on Cooper Proctor's chest?" and young Hickey, with a twinkle in his eye, replied: "Why, don't you know? That means he weighs 82 ounces!"

"Cam" McDermid, now president of the Cincinnati Reds, also recalled the Glendale team and the day that team clashed with Woodward. "Sure Colonel Proctor was in the game and the Hickey's too!" he said, "Father John" had other baseball honors to his credit also, as he played on the famous American team in the days of his studies for the priesthood at the American College in Rome.

TO DISCUSS RUSSIA
AT MEETING HERE

LONDON, England, June 13.—Russia's importance in the European disarmament situation may be emphasized by Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister, in conferences with President Hoover during MacDonald's proposed visit to Washington late this summer.

England herself probably will defer recognition of Soviet Russia until after MacDonald returns from the United States with a clear first-hand knowledge of why the United States heretofore has refrained from recognizing the Soviet.

Russian recognition was one of the foremost planks of the Labor party's pre-election campaign, and the promise had been made to resume diplomatic relations immediately on assumption of office by MacDonald and his followers.

With the election won, however, and MacDonald in office, the foreign affairs correspondent of the Daily News said today that MacDonald had decided to postpone resumption of relations plans until he has had an opportunity to talk with Mr. Hoover personally.

GIRL GRADUATES IN DENTISTRY

Miss Elizabeth Hannah Dean, daughter of Mrs. S. S. Dean, Jamestown Pike, was the only girl graduate of the school of dentistry, Western Reserve University, Cleveland, O., at the commencement exercises held there Thursday. Miss Dean is a sister of Leslie Scott Dean, who graduated from the school of medicine at the same school. Another brother, Dr. Robert S. Dean, is now a practicing physician in Cleveland.

JURY PONDERS FATE OF TORCH MURDERER

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 13.—A jury today was pondering the would prefer a drawn-out death in fate of Henry Colin Campbell who jail to the quick end that the electric chair would bring.

The case went to the jury this morning.

In the court of Oyer and Terminer, Prosecutor Ave J. David began his final plea that the state might take the life of the elderly broken man who has confessed he married Mrs. Mildred Mowry bigamously and murdered her in a New Jersey roadside because he needed the $1,000 she had saved from a life time of work.

David asked the death penalty.

Law Enforcement Commissioners

Monte M. Lemann, left, New Orleans attorney and member of the law school of Tulane University, who has never voiced his opinion publicly on the prohibition question, and Judge Kenneth Mackintosh, right, of Seattle, Wash., former Stanford University classmate of President Hoover, are two of the members of the National Enforcement Commission appointed by President Hoover.

OLD TIMERS TODAY

In Which George Stovall Writes About Baseball Stars Of Other Days.

By GEORGE STOVALL
Former Star Big League First Baseman and Former Manager Cleveland Indians, St. Louis Browns and Kansas City Federals. Written Especially for The Gazette.

The hamlet of Paoli, O., is the home town of a farmer who holds many baseball records that will stand the test of time. The tiller of the soil is "Cy" Young, whose wonderful record as a pitcher forms a bright chapter in the history of the game.

Young was in baseball continuously for twenty-three years. In the second game of a double-header against Washington in 1910 Cy pitched his 500th victory in the majors—a truly marvelous record. Other pitchers may have been more brilliant or successful than Cy for brief periods, but none can equal him in long years of service and steady work in the pitcher's box.

In his long career he failed but three times to win more than half his games in a single season, and in one or two of these years he was playing with a weak club, so the fault could hardly be called his.

Cy was a teammate of mine on the Cleveland club and I watched the fadeout of this great player's career in 1911 after twenty-three years of service. He had his debut in the old National League in 1890 as a pitcher for Cleveland, remaining with that club until 1895. He was at St. Louis for the next two years. From 1901 until 1908 Cy pitched for the Boston Americans. He wound up his career—as he began it—at Cleveland.

Cy Young was one of the game's most loved characters. He had an even disposition which made him a favorite with players and fans. For consistency and steadiness in the box, year after year, Young had no equal.

ESCAPED PRISONER
RETURNED TO PEN

COLUMBUS, O., June 13.—Bruno Kochynski, state penitentiary convict who escaped from the Junction City Brick Plant during the dormitory fire October 8, was returned to prison today by E. E. Clinger, a field officer for the state bureau of identification.

Kochynski, sent up from Montgomery County July 11, 1927 to serve one to seven years for larceny, was captured in San Francisco where he was arrested on a minor charge.

XENIA CHILDREN OF SCHOOL AGE NUMBER 2,261 CENSUS SHOWS

Annual enumeration of school youth taken in May discloses there are 2,261 children of school age between the ages of 5 to 18 in Xenia, an increase of 180 over last year, Louis Hammerle, city school superintendent announces.

The population of the Xenia public schools was placed, however, at 2,016 by the census, including children between the ages of 5 and 15 for whom school attendance is compulsory. An unusual feature was that the number of boys and girls was equally divided.

Nearly 200 children will enter school for the first time next fall, a number approximately the same as last year.

The school enumeration was compiled by Mrs. Frank Dean and Mrs. Bertha Booth, two teachers, who made a house to house canvass.

Figures included in the census showed that there were more children 7 years of age than of any other age between 5 and 17, the number being 223. The school youth is listed by ages in the report as follows: 5-176; 6-184; 7-223; 8-202; 9-193; 10-173; 11-170; 12-178; 13-190; 14-161; 15-166; 16-149; 17-96.

NO PRIVACY FOR FISH FLEETWOOD, Eng., June 11.
Even the fish at the bottom of the sea are being deprived of their privacy by modern inventions. An "echo sounder," which aids fishermen in listening-in for fish and guiding their nets, has been invented and may revolutionize fishing methods.

STUDENT HONORED

Lawrence Kermode, of Bridgeport, Conn., was elected community manager of the Antioch College student government at a meeting of the college council. Kermode will become the executive next year of the campus organization in charge of student affairs. He has also been treasurer of the community government.

WHITE CHAPEL

MOTHER OF XENIAN CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Dora M. Albaugh, 67, wife of Professor S. O. Albaugh of Miami - Jacobs Business College, Dayton, and mother of Mrs. J. D. Adair, Xenia, died at her home, 28 N. Sunset Ave., Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock after an extended illness.

She was born in Miami County in 1862 and was married in 1884, shortly afterward removing to Dayton. She was a member of the First Christian Church.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Miss Carrie Albaugh, Dayton, Mrs. James D. Adair, Xenia, and Mrs. Dee DeMeritt, Los Angeles, Cal., two sons, Russell K. Dayton and Robert O. Indianapolis, and two brothers, Loren A. Kessler, Greenville, and Dr. A. P. Kessler, Dayton.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock with burial in West Milton, O.

MORTGAGES TO BE BURNED

THE successful culmination of efforts of the congregation of the First Methodist Episcopal Church to retire the indebtedness that has hung over the church for many years will be celebrated at services Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock by the burning of the old mortgages and notes by the presidents of the Ladies' Aid Society, church trustees, and the financial committee.

One of the notes for $6,000 is dated September 25, 1911 and is signed by fifteen members of the official board, only three of whom are still living. Only one of this trio lives in Xenia now.

Words of appreciation will be spoken by a member of the official board and the choir will add the major note of rejoicing by presenting a special musical program.

PAUL WEISS SR. CALLED BY DEATH

Paul Weiss, Sr., 85, native of Germany and former resident of Goes, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James L. Patterson, Cedar St., Springfield, O., shortly after midnight Wednesday from infirmities of age.

Mr. Weiss is survived by the following children: Mrs. Patterson, with whom he lived; Mrs. John Baugh, Goes; Mrs. Carl Drake, Yellow Springs; Mrs. Clay Evans, Springfield, and Paul Weiss, Jr., Yellow Springs. A number of grandchildren also survive.

For a number of years he was employed at the old powder mills at Goes.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Patterson in Springfield with interment in Woodland Cemetery, Xenia.

LIBERALS WILL USE POWER IN COMMONS

LONDON, June 13.—The Liberal Party, holding the balance of power in the house of commons, will exercise it to determine important issues, David Lloyd George, party leader, proclaimed in an address at a National Liberal Club luncheon today.

In his first public pronouncement since the general election, Lloyd George indicated the Liberals would adopt a policy of "benevolent neutrality" between the new Labor government and the Conservative opposition, but will be the determining factor in controversial issues.

The World And All

BY CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

GRAND CLEARANCE

Before the boat shoved off to take me to Europe, I made one last desperate effort to clear my desk. Some of the unanswered letters I found were so old that I would have hung my head in shame if I had had the time—and the shame.

Samuel W. Dunning, Milwaukee, wrote me an interesting letter, presenting a plan for the relief of farmers. But I believe that the farmers are soon to be relieved. I am very credulous, to be sure. But I have heard so long and so often that the farmers are going to be relieved right away, that I think I may be pardoned for believing it. So I won't go into Mr. Dunning's plan here and now.

Mrs. W. J. Underwood, Los Angeles, Cal., writes to ask me when I'm going to say another good word for Doctor Frederick Cook, who is serving time in Leavenworth. Well, I'll say right now that I still believe that Dr. Cook discovered the North Pole, if anyone did. Also, I doubt that he was sent to prison solely for committing any crime.

A. S. M. Neill, Orange, Tex., writes to tell me of a psychic experience he had while in hospital. He seemed to be translated to another sphere, wherein he saw many wonderful things, but what impressed me in his narration was that he was able to see all sides of an object at once and equally well. Ultra-modernists would call this fourth dimensional vision. However, psychic phenomena experienced by ill persons are not accepted as necessarily veracious by scientific investigators.

And here is a letter that will never be answered! It is signed Reuben H. Donnelly. It expresses appreciation for an article I wrote about Mr. Donnelly's having paid out of his own funds an enormous sum owed by a bankrupt firm of which he was once a member. "I am still in a quandary as to why settlement of what I considered my honest debts should cause any comment," says Mr. Donnelly. Then he goes on to say that he is a Chicagoan, and not a New Yorker, as I made him out to be. He was proud of Chicago. Well, Chicago should be proud of him. Mr. Donnelly died since the letter was written.

From Rock Island, Ill., a woman signing herself "An Armful," writes to tell me at some length that girls who remain single do so because they want to. She is very sharp about it, too. Well, it's all right with me.

"A Mother," Morristown, N. J., writes about her five-year-old son, who was told he had two angels, a good one on one shoulder and a good one on the other. Reprimanded for listening to the bad one, he said, "Mother, you have no bad angel have you?" It's a sweet story.

William C. Curran, Lexington, Ky., writes to say that he believes Dr. Cook was honest in the belief that he discovered the North Pole.

SCHIFFELER WILL MANAGE GIBSON

C. C. Schiffler, managing director of the Van Cleve Hotel, Dayton, has been appointed manager of the Hotel Gibson, Cincinnati, to succeed Ralph Hitz when the latter leaves to become manager of the new New Yorker, Gotham's largest hotel, which will be ready for occupancy about November 1. Hitz was given the New York position at a salary of $35,000 a year and a percentage of the profits. Schiffler has worked at Ritz hotels in London, Paris, Montreal and New York and has also had connections with the Chase Hotel, St. Louis and the Ft. Hayes, Columbus. He will continue to manage the Van Cleve in connection with his Cincinnati duties.

CLIFTON

Children's Day exercises were held at the United Presbyterian Church last Sabbath, taking the place of the regular preaching service.

Mrs. Ralph M. Fox, wife of the Presbyterian pastor, was called to Cincinnati last Saturday by the death of her mother.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hopping and Mr.

George Bert Hopping and family, spent Sunday in Dayton with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hopping, who are rejoicing in the birth of a young son last Thursday.

Miss Harriet Kyle is home from her school at Ezel, Ky. Miss Kyle made an address on the mission work in this school before the Springfield Missionary Society recently.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Gilmore, daughter and granddaughter spent Friday with Rev. and Mrs. J. G. C. Webster and attended Cedarville College commencement.

Mrs. John F. Campbell and Miss Nan Williams of Dayton, were guests of Miss Florence White several days last week.

Mr. Henry Kyle is home from Jackson City, O., where he taught last year.

Miss Doris Swaby is taking a business course in Springfield.

Misses Marjorie Young and Doris Printz have positions in Springfield.

Communion services will be held next Sabbath June 16th at the United Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Swaby, Mrs. James Swaby and Miss Coe motored to Oxford, Ohio, Monday to see Miss Ethel Edwards graduate from Miami University.

Clifton streets are being prepared for a dressing of oil.

The town house on Clinton St. is to be repaired soon, by order of council.

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physical and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies. It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

J. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

Here is a picture of the document which has stirred more interest throughout the land during the past few days than any other. It is the certificate of marriage which was issued by the Municipal Court at Englewood, N. J., to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride, Anne Morrow, daughter of Ambassador Dwight Morrow, preceding their surprise wedding at the Englewood home of the Mexican Ambassador.

LINDBERGH'S CAKE GOES BEGGING

Hundreds of eggs, pounds of flour and buckets of sugar, plus hours of work on the part of admirers of Col. Charles Lindbergh, who, according to his marriage certificate, is an "aeronautical consultant," went into this massive cake, one of the largest ever made. Los Angeles admirers thought the cake would be welcomed by the young couple. Now with the discovery that the flyer and his bride left without leaving a honeymoon address the donors are wondering what to do with it. Verna Corum is the girl with the cake which may find its way to an orphan asylum.

Rome Hop Longest Ever Planned by Plane

Roger Q. Williams and Captain Lewis A. Yancey are waiting at Old Orchard Beach, Me., for old man weather to give them at least an even break before attempting the 4,700-mile transatlantic flight to Rome. The map shows their probable route and which would give them the world distance flight record if they are successful in making Rome. By an odd coincidence, the present record holders, Ferrari and his co-pilot, hopped from Rome when they flew 4,400 miles to Brazil. The picture above shows the Bellanca, Green Blash, in which the daring Americans will fly, as it landed at Old Orchard Beach after the hop from New York.

OVERFLOWING BAYOUS INUNDATE CONVENTION CITY

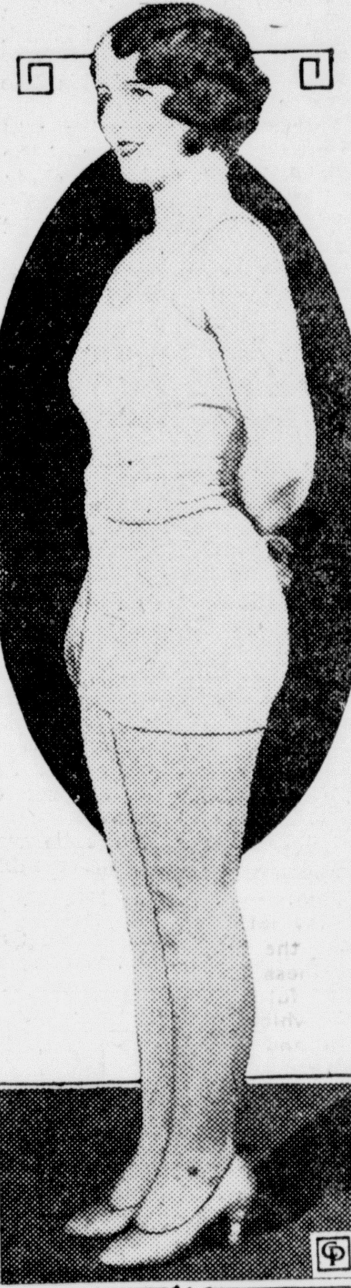

Excessive rainfalls, turning normally placid bayous into raging torrents, brought floods that caused two deaths and property damage estimated at $5,000,000 in Houston, Tex., scene of the last Democratic national convention. Photos show views of the flood, top left, a scene near the business district, where water stood 15 feet high in many of the stores; right, water covering a railroad line into the city, and below, another view of the flood in the business district.

Charming Debutante

Miss Nanita Miles. One of the charming debutantes who has recently made her bow to Washington, D. C., society is Nanita Miles, daughter of Major and Mrs. Sherman Miles, and granddaughter of the late General Nelson A. Miles.

"Miss Houston"

Blue-eyed 18-year-old Jeanne Lott, who went into the contest "just for the thrill of it," and says she would prefer a home career to stage or movies, has been selected as Miss Houston for the International Pageant of Pulchritude.

Oldest Playhouse Burns in New York

One thousand persons living in the neighborhood of the Thalia Theatre in New York were endangered by the terrific fire which razed the oldest theatre in New York. Many famous actors made their debuts decades ago on its stage, which has lately been owned by a Chinese syndicate. Huge paintings of some of these actors adorned the walls and were all lost in the fire. The total loss is estimated at $100,000. This fire was the sixth which had occurred in the 103-year-old structure and left only a shell standing, which will probably not be rebuilt.

Back to Native Land

An amnesty bill ending the 11-year exile of former King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, above, will soon be signed which will allow the King to return to his native land. Ferdinand abdicated the throne in 1918 and has been in exile at Coburg, Germany, since that time.

Following Mother's Footsteps

Ethel Barrymore Colt is the third of this illustrious stage family to graduate from the Notre Dame convent at Moylan, Pa. She follows in the footsteps of her grandmother, Georgie Drew Barrymore, and her mother, Ethel Barrymore. This picture of the Colt family shows Ethel Barrymore Colt, left, her mother, Ethel Barrymore, center, and her brother, Samuel Colt.

SMART FASHIONS ON DISPLAY

Smart fashions on display in a recent benefit style show in New York show how the "well dressed" bride will look in a lovely satin and lace gown, as posed by Hazel Forbes. Also an evening wrap of velvet and fur worn by Betty Basset.

TWO VIOLINS ARE WORTH $85,000

Two famous violins, valued at $85,000, have arrived in the United States to be displayed. One is a Jacobus Stainer violin made in 1673 and valued at $40,000, the other was made by Joseph Guarneri del Gesu in 1736 and is valued at $45,000. Added interest in the former is found in the fact that it once was bought by Queen Victoria and presented to the late Duke of Edinburgh. Both are perfectly preserved. Photo shows Virginia Nerretter and Fern Prindville displaying the fiddles in Los Angeles.

May Succeed Dad

Hoosier political sages predict Thomas Taggart, of French Lick, son of the late veteran Democratic leader, will succeed his father as an Indiana Democratic chieftain. He is mentioned to succeed Charles A. Greathouse, the party's national committeeman, who wishes to resign.

Seeks Tally Fame

Seeking the mantle which the farm-loving Talley has cast off, Miss Iona Mull, 19, of Great Bend, Kas., hopes to achieve operatic success under the tutelage of Mme. Shumann-Heink in Kansas City. She is the winner of the $2,000 Marion Talley scholarship established there.

Hex Slayers Smile Facing Jail

Wilbert G. Hess, left, aged 18, sentenced to serve from ten to twenty years in connection with the killing of Nelson Rehmyer at York, Pa., and John H. Blymyer, right, sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the same crime, were known as the hex-killers. Jail seems to have no terrors for them as they start on their way to an Eastern penitentiary where they will serve their sentences.

MONSIGNOR BUCKLEY HEARD AT ST. BRIGID HIGH GRADUATION

"There can be no conflict between science and religion because they run on parallel lines and can never meet," said the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Daniel Buckley, pastor of St. Raphael Church, Springfield, and vicar general of the Cincinnati diocese addressing graduates of St. Brigid High School at commencement exercises in the church Wednesday night.

"You are going out into the world at a very dangerous time," he advised the graduates. "A time when people call vice virtue and virtue vice. The principles you have learned in the Catholic schools are the weapons you are to use in combating temptations. Science, the speaker said, is now making many boasts, and has solved many problems, but in doing so, is doing a great deal of guessing. Religion, being founded on the Word of God, he said, can make no compromise with science. "We are having all kinds of absurd schools now," said Mons. Buckley. "One of these is known as 'Behaviorism' and teaches that what you think is right, is therefore right, throwing the responsibility of opinion on the individual. Under such belief, religion would fall. The question you must answer is how you will live in accordance with those precepts of morality which you have been taught during twelve years of your school life. You could have obtained your secular knowledge in other schools but Catholics strive to preserve their children in the faith. Be faithful to your duties and in the service of your God. These are the weapons faith has placed in your hands and they will guard you from temptations. Besides you will receive a happiness and peace of conscience which the world can never give. Be true to your principles and you will have happiness of life."

The Rev. David Powers, pastor of St. Brigid Church and head of the school, presented the diplomas to a class of eight seniors, following a brief farewell address. He pointed out that the class was the first to enter and graduate from high school during its regime in Xenia. "All we ask of you is that you go forth as loyal and courageous men and women and put into practice in this city the principles of virtue which you have been inculcated in this school. If you do this we need have no fear of what sort of citizens you will make."

Seniors who received their diplomas were: Misses Margaret McDonnell, Marguerite Sears, Anna Ratchford, Josephine Graham and Catherine Osborn and Neil Donovan, Philip Campbell and Francis Geiger.

The graduates formed a procession into the church, led by the high school students, and took places in the front of the church. Solemn Benediction followed the commencement exercises, with the Rev. Albert A. Burke, Cincinnati, former pastor of St. Brigid Church, as celebrant. The benediction hymns were sung by members of the high school choir from their places in the body of the church and Miss Eleanor McDonnell sang a special solo.

But not for these, nor for a hundred other dominating influences, do we love it and cherish it beyond all earthly emblems. In its promise of peace, national and international, and in its compelling influence for justice toward nations and individuals do we find our highest pride and satisfaction. And, singularly, it is this phase of our flag's significance that is most difficult to foster and to sustain in the consciousness of our people. The admirable qualities of citizenship for which the flag stands in peace times are so near and so obvious as to be easily overlooked and unappreciated. They are all comprehended in that matchless aphorism, "Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."

In this spirit let Ohio join her sister commonwealth on the appointed day, June 14, in the observance of Flag Day. On that day let all of our citizens display the flag, at their places of business and at their homes, in grateful acknowledgement of all for which it stands to a prosperous and happy people.

Given under my hand and seal at Columbus, Ohio, this first day of June, in the year of our Lord the One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-ninth, and the Independence of the United States, the One Hundred and fifty-third.

PROCLAMATION ON FLAG DAY

To our people our Flag, the Stars and Stripes, symbolizes that national freedom so dearly purchased by our forebears and so jealously guarded by our citizenry—to the other peoples of the earth it signifies the most interesting adventure in free government "of the people, by the people and for the people" that the pages of history reveal. In military annals it has been the insignia of resistless force of arms that has carried our armies to decisive victory in every war in which we have engaged. It has inspired heroic deeds beyond number, poems of rare excellence, and martial music of impelling patriotism.

But not for these, nor for a hundred other dominating influences, do we love it and cherish it beyond all earthly emblems. In its promise of peace, national and international, and in its compelling influence for justice toward nations and individuals do we find our highest pride and satisfaction. And, singularly, it is this phase of our flag's significance that is most difficult to foster and to sustain in the consciousness of our people. The admirable qualities of citizenship for which the flag stands in peace times are so near and so obvious as to be easily overlooked and unappreciated. DIGESTION IS RESTORED BY NEW KONJOLA

Sufferer Found His First and Only Relief When New Medicine Was Put To The Test

"If I had only known of Konjola years ago, what suffering I would have been spared," said Mr. James Palaizo, 1437 West Third St., Cleveland. "The poor condition of my stomach caused awful indigestion pains. Gas formed, and I became short of breath. My bowels were inactive, and I finally became nervous and irritable."

"But by the time I had used two bottles of Konjola I felt like a new man. I can eat when and what I want, and never suffer afterward. My bowels have been strengthened and regulated, and poisons cleared from my system. I feel better in every way than I have for years, and I owe all this new health to Konjola!"

Konjola is sold in Xenia at the Gallaher drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haith, of Springfield, were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Haith's mother, Mrs. Francis Long.

Mrs. Kathryn Lewis and little daughter, Beverly Louise, of Chicago, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McKnight, E. Second St.

Mrs. Lester Lane, E. Third St., has returned from Akron, O., where she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Daniel Abrams and Mr. Hood Lindsey. She was accompanied by her brother and bride, Mr. and Mrs. Booker Hamilton (nee Miss Goldie Cromer) of Marion, O.

Rev. L. C. Ridley, D. D., of Wilberforce, will conduct a question hour at St. John's A. M. E. Church tomorrow night, Friday, June 14. He will answer any reasonable question on any theological or educational subject. Come and propound some questions and enjoy a pleasant evening with us. Chicken pie and other good eats will be served and will be ready at 5 o'clock.

Troop 40, Boy Scouts will appear before the Xenia Court of Honor, Friday evening at East High School gymnasium to receive awards in advanced work in Scouting. A number of the boys will pass their second class tests and several will receive tenderfoot badges. The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting and encourage the boys. Mr. Louis Hammerle, superintendent of the Xenia schools, will preside at the court, assisted by an able staff.

Scoutmaster Everett Roberts and Arthur Taylor, chairman of the troop committee of Troop 40, B. S. A., attended the summer activities conference of Boy Scout leaders held Tuesday evening at the Boy Scout cabin of the Masonic Home, Springfield, Ohio. They reported a very fine meeting and large attendance. About 100 men interested in the Boy Scout movement were present and after a delightful luncheon discussed and drafted a tentative program for the summer for Scouts.

The funeral services for Mrs. Nora Scott at the St. John's A. M. E. Church, Tuesday afternoon were largely attended, hundreds of persons remaining on the outside all during the service. The Rev. J. Wesley Arnold, pastor of the North St. A. M. E. Church, Springfield, preached the discourse, assisted by Rev. P. S. Hill of Cincinnati and Bishop Jones of Wilberforce. The Rev. A. R. Fox, pastor of the St. John's Church had charge of the service. The choir furnished music and Miss Clark, of Toledo, sang a solo. Visitors from Portsmouth, Zanesville, Columbus, Toledo, Cincinnati, Dayton and all the nearby towns were present. Interment in Cherry Grove Cemetery. The floral tributes were in numbers together with letters and telegrams of sympathy.

WHITWORTH LEAVES CENTRAL FACULTY

Eugene G. Whitworth, teacher in the commercial department at Xenia Central High School, has resigned to accept a similar position at Kiser High School in Dayton next fall.

The written resignation was submitted in a letter received by Louis Hammerle, city school superintendent Wednesday and will probably be accepted. His home is in Middletown, Ind.

Whitworth, in addition to his teaching duties, has also served as director of the high school band and orchestra and as faculty manager of athletics for the last several years.

In the interest of economy the city school board will not employ an additional teacher as his successor, Superintendent Hammerle said. By a readjustment in which the enrollment of each class will be slightly increased, it is believed that the school can dispense with another teacher.

READ THIS FIRST:

Vivian Matthews, 20, a doorstep baby, is considered a "flat tire" by the young set of Xenia. Kent, Hillman Johns III, jilted by Aurelia "Dovie" Jansen, local belle, in favor of a European count, is "through with women." He offers Vivian one hundred thousand dollars and a divorce in Paris at the end of the year and she marries him, loving him secretly. He gives her five thousand dollars when they start to New York on their honeymoon "for clothes and things."

Through the manager of the hotel Vivian secures a French maid, Celeste, who is beautiful and charmingly dressed.

NOW GOING WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

Celeste took a slightly protesting Vivian firmly, and dipped her head into a bowl of water that had lingered in colored powder dissolved in it.

"Goodness, you're not dyeing my hair, Celeste," she asked, worried slightly as she thought of hennaed hair, as she had never admired. "Dye! Non, non," Celeste protested, as she rinsed and rubbed. "Your hair dead color, I bring it to life—so. Wait to see. Madame must not look till Celeste are all finish."

Later, with her hair cut and waved an excited Celeste led her to a mirror.

"See, did I not tell you?" And Vivian saw that her hair was a brilliant, shining auburn. Before she had thought it a mousy brown. She gave a little cry of pleased surprise.

"What is that stuff, Celeste?" "It's just bring ze natural color to your hair, Madame. If you had use ze brush it would not be necessary. Madame has not care for her hair," she added frankly.

"No," Vivian confessed, slightly embarrassed but nappy. "I have never been interested in clothes."

Celeste shook her head as she would at a naughty child.

"Ze French woman never let her hair go so. Madame is to be ze beautiful. Celeste fix her so."

Vivian saw that her face was soft and pink from the massage and the clay pack. Her hair was a revelation. Her body, massaged firmly by the strong little Celeste, tingled with life. She felt beautiful! And beauty being very largely a matter of mind, Vivian was in a receptive state.

With her eyebrows smoothed and plucked until they, too, shone, Vivian's eyes, green and slant, looked even more mystic than ever. She noticed, herself, how they sparkled and the lashes seemed longer.

"Madame has eyes of ze vamp. Such amazing eyes I never see," Celeste had told her.

And as Vivian stared at herself, preening like a peacock, Celeste smiled wickedly.

"Ah, Madame, ze beeg, strong husband of yours. He will love Madame. She is very tempting."

Vivian gasped—and her face grew red, then white. Suddenly her hands went to her throat. Celeste stood by amazed. Oh, she had not thought a girl so young would object to being teased a little about her love! Her voice was small when she apologized.

"Oh, Madame, Celeste so sorry. No more shall I tease. Forgive me, I beg."

"Oh, that's all right," Vivian finally managed to assure her. "It wasn't that." She could go no further. The maid knew something serious was the matter. She puzzled over it long after she went to bed and listened for the steps of Kent Johns in his wife's boudoir.

It is not a love match, Celeste decided—and felt unhappy about it. Poor little Madame! She has not known how to win her so handsome rich husband. Keenly sympathetic, the French girl made up her mind that she would do everything in her power to help. She knew the power of clothes. She had seen it with her own countrywomen—and with herself.

Celeste fell to picturing Vivian in this and that—finally fell asleep to dream of Madame as a beautiful, mannequin, stunning in ermine and eables.

The next few days were like a dream to Vivian. One long, happy dream of smart little shops, very flattering attendants—a sparkling and radiant Celeste talking French rapidly whenever she steered her to a French shop.

She pretty much took out of her own hands. But everything Celeste suggested was stunning—and suited her admirably.

First the practical maid had suggested lovely street things. And modistes had brought out for their inspection satins and crepe de chine and soft dainties that made her heart beat madly. She had never known she could be interested in clothes!

Soft tans and browns and greens and yellows and orchids. Colors that brought out the green in her eyes and the red of her hair and the softness of her pale face and carmine lips until she felt hardly like the same girl that had wept over her appearance in Bender.

It was a grand merry series of holidays, with Kent going his way, kind but indifferent, and she and Celeste doing nothing but buying, buying, buying. She didn't call a halt until three thousand dollars were gone. There was a fall and winter wardrobe fit for a princess. She winced when she thought of wearing them in her little home town.

But, suddenly she remembered all her years of privation and heartache and neglect, and it made her angry. She would show them! She could look just as attractive any day as that little too-stout, cooing Jansen blonde that blinded his eyes to everything else.

It was in this mood, rather late one afternoon, that she walked into the hotel with Celeste. She walked in, head held a trifle defiantly, her eyes slanted thoughtfully as she remembered a great many things that had hurt her. She felt the power of money—and of her appearance. It reflected even in her walk. She might have been a princess of the long ago, walking a little defiantly to the guillotine.

It was thus that Mann Barkow saw her for the first time. She wore a soft shade of green, exactly blending with her eyes, and a cap shaped that that swerved down over her ears with peaks that touched her throat. Extreme, severe, sophisticated, but the effect softened becomingly with the staggeringly stunning long double white fox scarf that framed her face.

Barkow sat up suddenly and did not take his eyes off her until she stepped in the

The Theater

It is a singular and interesting fact that not a single stage play is showing on Broadway this week.

The side streets have them in reasonable abundance—dramas, revues, musical comedies and what-not—but Broadway along its most glittering stretch from 40th St., to 59th St., is bare of working actors.

The streets famous theaters however, are gayly lighted with incandescents that proclaim the merits of some talking pictures—the Gaiety, the Globe, the Astor, Winter Garden, Central, Harris and Apollo Theaters all having flickers this week. Pessimists of the legitimate stage, may find in this a moral.

Efforts to cram the movie reviewers into evening capes, however, constituted one of the notable failures of the reborn movie industry. Some, however, have taken to carrying canes.

"Strange Interlude," Eugene O'Neill's most successful play, passes into history as a New York attraction this week, although two and possibly three companies will take the marathon drama about the country next season under the Theater Guild banner.

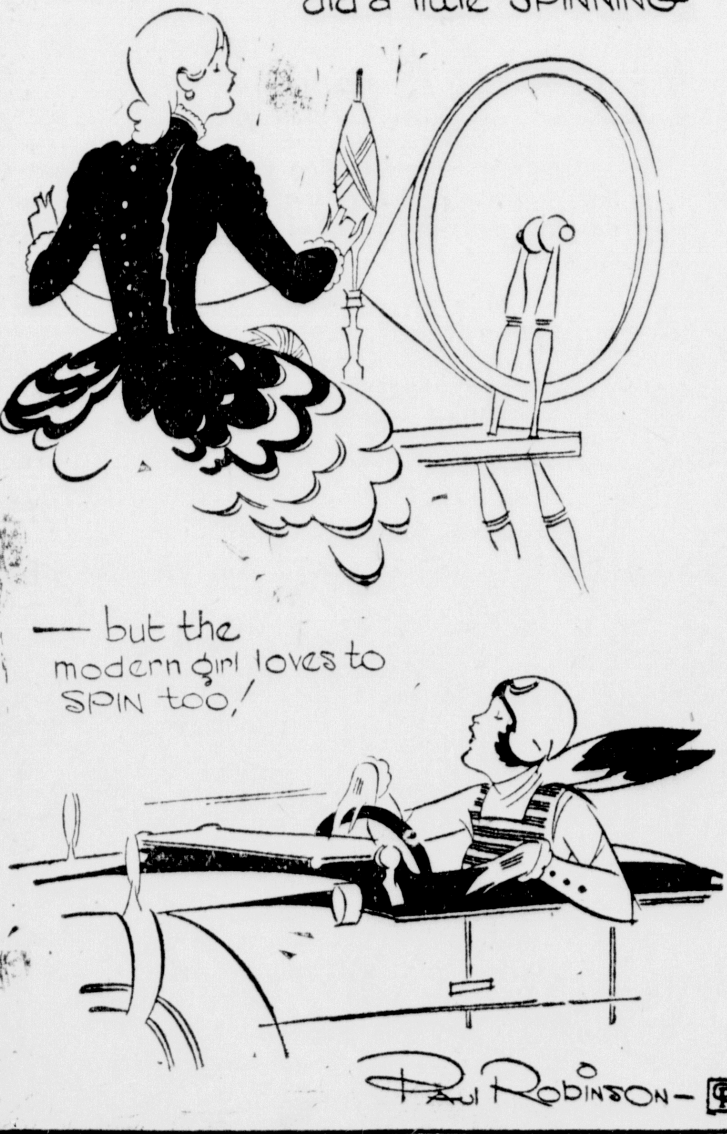

Two previous announcements of the play's closing were nullified because of a last-minute demand for seats by people who had been dreading for a year the task of sitting through nine acts but felt they simply could never face their grandchildren unarmed with the phrase: "Yes I saw it." The five-hour drama had a record of 432 performances during its run.

Many Xenians saw the play at the Briarcliff Grand in Cincinnati last season and it may return there as the Grand is making an effort to book all Guild productions next season. Cincinnati theater patrons are still being asked to sign their names to promises of support in order to insure Guild shows there next season.

SUSPECT IN HIGHWAY ROBBERY CASE HELD TO GRAND JURY HERE

George H. Kinninger, 30, Springfield St., Dayton, identified, authorities say, as being implicated in the hold-up and robbery of James Masterpolis, Springfield, near Yellow Springs, last December 6, was bound over to the grand jury under $2,000 bond by R. O. Copsey, Xenia Twp. justice of the peace, on a charge of highway robbery Wednesday afternoon.

Kinninger waived preliminary hearing and was remanded to the County Jail in default of bond. The suspect, who was arrested in Dayton and returned to Xenia, was positively identified as one of the hold-up men by Masterpolis, who came to Xenia accompanied by George Benham, Clark County sheriff, Wednesday, Sheriff Ohmer Tate said.

Masterpolis was relieved of $830 in cash, a diamond ring valued at $450, and his automobile, which was later recovered a mile from the robbery scene. The attack and robbery took place on the Yellow Springs-Cedarville Pike, one and one-half miles from Yellow Springs.

County authorities who made an investigation of the case, attributed the hold-up to hijackers when Masterpolis reported he was robbed while on his way to a farm house in the country to obtain a consignment of fifteen cases of liquor. He said that as he was driving through Yellow Springs he picked up a youth, an accomplice of the bandits, who asked him for a ride. As the auto neared a certain spot the youth asked permission to get out. Masterpolis complied with the request and said that as the speed of the car slackened, two men flourishing revolvers leaped on the running board of the machine from either side.

The Springfield man reported that one of his assailants struck him over the head with a revolver and after robbing him of his money and the ring, forced him from the car and drove away with his companion and the youth Masterpolis had picked up at Yellow Springs. The bandits also tried to remove a valuable stickpin from his tie but it would not come unclasped.

Authorities recall that Kenneth Elicker, 20, 908 Springfield St., Dayton, confessed to Richmond, Ind., police last February 4 of also being implicated in the robbery of Masterpolis.

Elicker made his confession after being arrested at Richmond, while attempting to obtain $480 from Luther Koons, private detective. He and two Dayton companions were said to have been foiled in a reputed liquor transaction.

All were charged with possession of liquor. Elicker was fined $500 and costs and given a prison sentence of six months. At the time the signed confession of Elicker was received by local authorities, Sheriff Tate said it was probable that extradition proceedings would be made in an effort to return him to Xenia for prosecution at the expiration of his prison sentence at Richmond.

Authorities also disclosed that Kinninger's wife, Ethel, 16, was adjudged guilty of juvenile delinquency by Juvenile Judge S. C. Wright at a hearing Wednesday and given an indeterminate sentence to the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware. The girl, a former resident of Beavercreek Twp., disregarded the court's instructions and got married, Judge Wright said. She was arrested a week ago in Dayton and returned to Xenia.

"I am so happy
that the last pimple is gone"

EVERY evening thousands enjoy themselves at dinner-parties, dances, theatres, games, clubs. Many thousands more are denied the joy of such merriment and happiness.

Maybe this denial is due to a skin trouble. First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize, but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have re-

SUSPECT IN HIGHWAY ROBBERY CASE HELD TO GRAND JURY HERE

George H. Kinninger, 30, Springfield St., Dayton, identified, authorities say, as being implicated in the hold-up and robbery of James Masterpois, Springfield, near Yellow Springs, last December 6, was bound over to the grand jury under $2,000 bond by R. Masterpois complied with the request and said that as the speed of the car slackened, two men flourishing revolvers leaped on the running board of the machine from either side.

The Springfield man reported that one of his assailants struck him over the head with a revolver and after robbing him of his money and the ring, forced him from the car and drove away with his companion and the youth. Masterpois had picked up at Yellow Springs. The bandits also tried to remove a valuable stickpin from his tie but it would not come unclasp.

Authorities recall that Kenneth Ellicker, 20, 908 Springfield St., Dayton, confessed to Richmond, Ind., police last February 4 of also being implicated in the robbery of Masterpois.

Ellicker made his confession after being arrested at Richmond, while attempting to obtain $480 from Luther Koons, private detective. He and two Dayton companions were said to have been foiled in a reputed liquor transaction.

All were charged with possessing liquor. Ellicker was fined $500 and costs and given a prison sentence of six months.

At the time the signed confession of Ellicker was received by local authorities, Sheriff Tate said it was probable that extradition proceedings would be made in an effort to return him to Xenia for prosecution at the expiration of his prison sentence at Richmond.

Authorities also disclosed that Kinninger's wife, Ethel, 16, was adjudged guilty of juvenile delinquency by Juvenile Judge S. C. Wright at a hearing Wednesday and given an indeterminate sentence to the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware. The girl, a former resident of Beavercreek Twp., disregarded the court's instructions and got married, Judge Wright said. She was arrested a week ago in Dayton and returned to Xenia.

*"I am so happy
... that the last pimple is gone"*

EVERY evening thousands enjoy themselves at dinner-parties, dances, theatres, games, clubs. Many thousands more are denied the joy of such merriment and happiness.

Maybe this denial is due to a skin trouble. First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize, but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

Take S.S.S. at meal-time. You will be delighted with its blood building and tonic effect.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
Refrigerator

The General Electric Refrigerator was designed and built after fifteen years of painstaking development by the Research Laboratories.

All its mechanism is enclosed in an hermetically sealed steel casing and placed up on top, leaving the cabinet space entirely for food storage. The mechanism thus enclosed is dirt-proof, worry-proof, so automatic you do not even oil it, so quiet you hardly know when the motor is running. You may purchase any model you wish on deferred payments.
